THE LABOR QUESTION

Discussed by Mr. W. H. Sayward at Newton South Community Forum

The meeting of the Newton South Community Forum last Sunday afternoon was held at Bray Hall, Newton Centre, the speaker being Mr. William H. Sayward, secretary of the Master Builders' Exchange for many years, who spoke on the subject "The Adjustment of the relations of the employer and the Wage Worker."

Mr. Sayward said in part: My experience has been a lengthy one covering a good many years and for that reason I have accumulated some first hand information, which is always valuable. What I am going to talk about will be based on experience and not theory altho there will have to be some theory mixed with it. For the past forty years I have been in close relations with the industrial problem, most of the time Secretary of the Master Builders' Association. My experience has been almost all in the building industry and anyone who has had the experience I have would have had enough of the problem to feel tired of the job.

One of the points which has impressed itself on me is, that a large number of people know nothing about the industrial problem. It seems to them that there is a great deal of turmoil in the industrial world, but most of the people are those who can shake it off their shoulders and go on with their daily life just as well as ever. But the task lies with those on the firing line. It is because those who are not on the firing line are only theorists. The theorists have made quite as much trouble as the agitators. One of the most striking examples occurred here a few years ago at a meeting of the Economic Organization which met in the American House in Boston and it was held at a time when there had been most exciting labor disturbance in the City of Lawrence. Some of the leaders in the Industrial conflict had been tried for murder and were acquitted. One of the persons invited to the meeting of the Economic Organization was one of the leaders in the great Lawrence strike. The subject of the evening was "The Labor Problem and its Solution." I want to call attention to the problem as it was presented by three people. One was John Brooks, a friend of mine and a man of much experience and who has travelled all over the world making a first hand investigation but a man who had never risked a dollar or put a moment of his time into business life. John Tobin who no doubt many of you know about, was the second speaker and the third was Etter, the man who was the leader in the strike.

Mr. Brooks said, "There is no solution to the labor problem, you might as well talk of having a solution of religion. There is no such a thing as solution and I wouldn't stay in the room five minutes with a man who says there is a solution." And yet he stayed for two hours in a room with men who had a solution. Mr. Tobin then got up and said, "I don't agree with Mr. Brooks, the labor problem is solved. The American Federation of Labor are solving it. They are also solving the question of employer and worker. The third speaker, the guest of the day, was the leader of the Lawrence strike. He immediately impressed everybody as being one of the most remarkable characters. Coming from that Italian race and equipped with a wonderful magnetic personality. This man commenced and within a very few minutes convinced a body of three or four hundred business men with some of the craziest notions I ever heard put forward. He said, "I have listened to Mr. Brooks and Mr. Tobin, but there is a solution and it is not by the American Federation of Labor. The only real solution of the labor problem comes from the I. W. W., which I represent. I propose to tell you whether you like it or not that we are going into this thing at wholesale and when there is going to be any industry tied up we will tie up the whole industry and not a part. That is the only way to stop it." Of course these are only parts of their speeches. They applauded him again and again and then I thought if a man of this type can take a splendid body of business men and arouse them up to such enthusiasm imagine what he must be when he gets in among a thousand or more men of his own kind. I imagine that he can arouse them to any action however bad or good it may be.

It is reasonably known that at the start there were certain elements at work to make adjustment between the employer and workman but these elements were on the side of the employer always. It came to a point of absolute slavery when the employer tried to adjust the conditions between the two. During the last fifteen years a new element has come in to adjust conditions between these two factors and that is developing, from my point of view just as the employers developed their weakness. They are not only making the workmen slaves but the whole community.

— was invited to speak in Ford Hall at one of their recent meetings. The subject was, "Do the Labor Unions Fulfill Their Purpose?" At those meetings they have a debate instead of one speaker and then questions afterwards. I was to take the negative and Henry Sterling the affirmative. Mr. Sterling said he thought he knew pretty well because he had been working for the labor unions for twenty-five years and the two things which the labor unions proposed are first to reduce hours of labor and second to increase wages.

MORE PHYSICAL WORK

Favored at High School by 1916 Board of Aldermen

The final meeting of the aldermen of 1916 was held on Monday afternoon at two o'clock, President Blanchard in the chair for the last time.

The select committee on military drill in the Newton Schools presented its report.

The committee feels that there is urgent need and desirability of a more complete system for the mental and physical development of pupils in the Newton High School and favors some sort of compulsory physical training for all pupils in the school for the advancement of discipline, obedience, orderly conduct and their physical betterment.

On account of insufficient time, the committee cannot say absolutely that military training is the only or even the best method of accomplishing this result and recommend that the school committee furnish definite and comparative schedules of its ideas and plans and urges future city governments to give the matter the most serious attention.

Orders were adopted approving the records of the board for the entire year and referring all unfinished business to 1917.

Just before the final adjournment, President Blanchard expressed his appreciation of the untiring efforts of the board and the zeal exhibited in its work for the year. He believed that the members realized that 21 minds seldom work along the same lines and had settled all their differences in committee. Personally he expressed his heartfelt thanks for the loyalty and support given to him, especially during the past year. Newton citizens, he declared, will not thank you, but the thinking men will give you the credit for keeping Newton, where it has always stood, at the head of the best governed cities in Massachusetts.

THE BRAE BURN CLUB

Holds a Winter Carnival on New Year's Day

An all-day winter carnival was held New Year's Day at the Brae Burn Country Club, and the weather conditions were perfect for the outdoor sports. The pond was crowded with skaters during the morning, afternoon and evening. A hurdy-gurdy furnished music and the grounds were brilliantly illuminated after sunset.

In the morning a competitive program was given for boys and girls, followed by an exhibition of fancy skating by Louis Washburn, Miss Edith Rotch, Miss Elsie Harrington, J. W. Norton, and Nat Niles, the tennis star.

A The dancants was held in the Garden Tea Room of the Club House from 4 until 6 o'clock, with music by Russell's Orchestra.

The sporting events were under the direction of H. N. Baldwin, and included the following:

100-yard dash for boys—Won by S. Lyons; Courtland Gross, second.

100-yard dash for girls—Won by Clarre Garrison; Eleanor Garrison, second.

440-yard dash for boys—Won by Joseph Olbrecht; William Garrison, second.

220-yard dash for girls—Won by Eleanor Lyons; Clarre Garrison, second.

Potato race for boys—Won by Edgar Crosby; S. Lyons, second.

Potato race for girls—Won by Anne Merrill; Alice Brace, second.

EDITORIAL

The editor of the GRAPHIC is fully aware of the utter folly of attempting any argument with Mayor Childs on any political subject, but as the sole petitioner for, and the author of the preferential voting plan now in vogue in this city, possibly we are somewhat qualified to make a statement in reply to the recent philippine of the mayor on this subject in his annual address. The mayor accepts some irresponsible State House gossip to the effect that this bill was aimed at him personally, and we respectfully submit three reasons to prove the contrary. First, Mayor Childs distinctly told the Civic Club prior to the city election in 1915 that "all he wanted was two terms, so that there was every reason last January to suppose that he would not, in any way, be affected by a measure which could not possibly take effect until the fall of 1916. Second, the petitioner and author of the bill, personally voted for and supported Mayor Childs at the city election in December, 1915. Third, the only organized movement to defeat the acceptance of the bill at the last state election was by a group of gentlemen who have always opposed Mayor Childs and his policies. These facts ought to convince every reasonable man that there was absolutely no personal element in the movement to establish preferential voting in this city and that it was aimed solely at a condition and not at an individual.

Mayor Childs undoubtedly expresses the opinion of quite a group of persons, whose candidates at the recent city election were unsuccessful, a result, however, which we pointed out at the time, cannot be attributed in any way to the preferential voting plan. In this connection it may be of interest to refer to editorial comment in the NEWTON GRAPHIC of November 8, 1889, following the first operation of the present Australian ballot. The editor, in part, says: "A great many tickets were cast with only the first one or two names crossed both by Republicans and Democrats; some marked all the candidates where only one should have been, and in other ways there was some confusion evidenced in the minds of the voters. Still, the returns show that most of the voters succeeded in carrying out their intentions, and the success of the law on its first trial showed its excellence." These same words apply with equal truth to the first operation of the preferential voting plan in this city where the figures show that over 95 per cent of the voters marked their ballots with intelligence and care.

The inauguration of a new state government this week, concludes seven years of service on Beacon hill by Senator George H. Ellis of West Newton. With a record of five years in the House and two years in the Senate, Mr. Ellis has set a new standard, not only in longevity, but in a quality of service that has been rarely approached and never surpassed in this city. The Commonwealth of Massachusetts in general and the city of Newton in particular are under great obligations to Senator Ellis for the fidelity, ability and quality of his public service. The "Newton standard" was always notable at the State House, has been placed in a still higher notch by the practical common sense, splendid business ability and sturdy honesty of Senator Ellis. He retires from the public service with the deep regrets of his constituents and with their hearty appreciation of his worth.

BRAE BURN CLUB

Brae Burn, Newton's superb Country Club, has resounded with gaiety during the holiday season, for the great variety of amusements furnished by the House Committee, has entertained immense throngs right royally over Christmas and New Year's.

The extraordinary influx of guests, and the carnival spirit prevailing at the height of the season, has helped to swell the visiting list at all functions, and the Club House has been taxed to its capacity. No season has been so noteworthy on account of social activities. The entire club house was decorated artistically with wreaths and evergreens for the Yule-tide, and with the rose-colored incandescent lights, the evening dancing scenes are most gay and festive.

On New Year's Day, 250 guests were served at luncheon, and a large number of members and their guests from Brookline and Boston, as well as the Newtons, attended the dansants in the afternoon, which was held from 4 until 6 in the Garden Tea Room.

One of the most successful society affairs of the week for the younger set, was the debutante dance on Wednesday evening given by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Campbell Badger of Newton Centre, for their daughter, Miss Priscilla Badger. There were 100 guests present, and music was furnished by Russell's Orchestra. The ushers included Walter Irving Badger, Jr., E. B. Badger, 2nd, Marcus Morton, Jr., Stafford Johnson, Clayton Ernst, William T. May, Kenneth Murdoch, Shepard Williams, Charles L. Ward, Robert G. Payne and Theodore L. Badger.

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Francis Edgar Stanley and her daughters, Mrs. Edward Merrihew Hallatt, and Mrs. Prescott Warren of Newton were the hostesses at a large auction bridge party. There were 50 tables arranged in the Garden Tea Room. The dining-table was centered with pink roses and among the ladies who poured were Mrs. Frank A. Day, Mrs. Harry L. Ayer, Mrs. Alexander D. Salinger and Mrs. Dana.

On Saturday evening Mrs. George W. Crampion and Mrs. Augustus T. Beatty of Newton Centre will give an Invitation Subscription dance in the Garden Tea Room.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

The annual Christmas Party of Channing Sunday School last Friday was more than usually successful. Games were enjoyed by the children during the last of the afternoon and many pictures were shown by the new combination streeptron and reflectoscope. Supper was served to about one hundred and fifty children and older people by a committee of ladies with Mrs. Charles H. Barney as chairman.

In the evening a Christmas Pageant arranged by Rev. Theodore D. Bacon of Salem was presented by a cast from the parish. The pageant sets forth in seven scenes the whole Christmas story, from the Annunciation to Mary, to the appearance in the Temple and the flight into Egypt. Between the scenes the words of the Christmas carols were thrown upon the screen and sung by all present.

—Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hart are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son.

—Mrs. J. E. Day entertained a party at dinner New Year's Day at the Woodland Park hotel.

—The Auburndale Mothers' Association held a meeting Wednesday afternoon in the Congregational chapel.

—Miss Margaret E. Rich gave an interesting address on "A Good Neighbor."

—Mr. and Mrs. John C. Froude of Ash street announce the engagement of their daughter, Harriet M., to Mr. Arthur B. Hartford, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Hartford of Newtonville.

—Miss Gertrude E. Wightman entertained a number of friends over the holidays at her home on Maple street.

—A watch meeting was held at the Methodist Church last Sunday night, after the regular service there was a social hour, several speakers; and refreshments served.

—Mrs. George May and Miss Mary W. May, formerly of this village, now of Philadelphia, spent the Christmas holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth S. May of Newtonville.

—Ernest McDonald of Boylston street while skating on Crystal Lake Tuesday, fell on an ice pick and received a severe cut on the head. He was taken to the Newton Hospital.

—Rev. Herbert Jump, who has been taking Rev. Geo. T. Smart's place at the Congregational Church for several weeks, has accepted a call to the First Congregational Church at Manchester, N. H., and will preach there beginning next Sunday.

—The monthly meeting under the auspices of the Woman's Board of Missions was held this morning at 10:30 in Pilgrim Hall Congregational House, Boston. A New Year's Devotional service was held by Miss Alice M. Kyle; Mrs. F. E. Clark gave an interesting address on "Revisiting the Orient," and Dr. Fuchan Yen spoke on "Ya-li, the Yale of China."

—There will be a Children's service at the Church of the Messiah Saturday afternoon, Jan. 6 at 4:30 to celebrate the Feast of the Epiphany.

—There will be a special candle service intended to show Christ as the Light of the World. Mrs. Edmund Wilson will read Longfellow's poem of the "Three Kings" and appropriate carols will be sung. It will be held in the chapel and full attendance is desired.

—Music lovers were afforded a rare treat and Mr. Truett showed his entire mastery of the organ, by the rendering of a most difficult and varied program.

—The organ, which is a "Hutchins," is a notable embodiment of the latest advances in the art of organ building, combining the highest artistic ideals in tonal and mechanical perfection, and containing several peculiarities of special interest, and of great importance. It is a four manual instrument, placed on either side of the new chancel of the church, with the echo division and the Cathedral Chimes placed in the original tower.

—Music lovers were afforded a rare treat and Mr. Truett showed his entire mastery of the organ, by the rendering of a most difficult and varied program.

—Funeral services were held this morning at the undertaking rooms of Mr. George W. Mills on Washington street.

—Rev. Richard T. Loring, rector of St. John's Church, conducted an impressive service at nine o'clock. A delegation of business friends and brother Masons were present, and there were many beautiful floral tributes. The burial was in the family lot in the Newton Cemetery.

—Mr. H. Ernest Dearborn, a former business man and resident of Newtonville for many years, passed away Wednesday, January 3rd, at his home in Riverville, N. H.

—Mr. Dearborn is survived by a widow.

—The Epiphany, Saturday, January 6, will be observed at the chapel of the Messiah by services at 9 A. M. and 4:30 P. M. At the afternoon service the members of the church school will take part in an interesting "service of lights," for which Mrs. H. R. Turner is rehearsing the parts. This service will show the visit of the three kings and then the spreading of the light to the nations. Everyone will be welcome.

A $150,000 CAMPAIGN

The Francis E. Willard Settlement of Boston and Bedford enters next week on a three weeks campaign to raise $150,000 to pay off mortgages and loans, to build a gymnasium, and to add to its small endowment fund. Many Newton people are deeply interested in this charity and are devoting considerable time and attention to this campaign. Teams have been organized in all the suburbs of Boston, Newton being chairman of the Women's teams committee, with Mrs. J. Parker B. Fiske of Auburndale, Mrs. Charles E. Hatfield of West Newton and Mrs. C. G. Wetherbee of Newton Highlands also Newton members of the committee. Newton members of the Men's teams committee include Hon. C. E. Hatfield and Mr. F. W. Gause of Newton. Mrs. Blodgett is also secretary of the Campaign committee, of which Mrs. Henry B. Day of West Newton and Mrs. Fiske are among the vice chairmen. Other Newton residents officially connected with the campaign include Mrs. W. E. Birdsall of Newton, Mrs. Willard, Mrs. F. Perry of Westerly, R. L. Helen G. Chapin, Priscilla Ordway and Lois Bailey of Newton Centre were bridesmaids. The groom's brother, Mr. Henry B. Hall, an Instructor in economics at Harvard University, was best man. The ushers were Misses James R. Hall of Boston, brother; Alfred Crossman, Russell G. Hemenway and Warren Ordway of Newton Centre.

The groom is a graduate of Amherst and the Harvard Forestry School. Last year he was chief of the Bureau of Markets in Newton, and he is now engaged in farming and agricultural work. He and his bride, after a trip South, will reside in Newton Centre.

CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

It has been decided that Mr. Marshall Darrach of New York will give three Shakespearean recitals in the Assembly Hall of this school on three successive Tuesdays afternoons in this month, beginning on January 16 as follows:

January 16, "The Tempest."
January 23, "Julius Caesar."
January 30, "Hamlet."

The Christmas number of the "Review" was issued on the Friday before the recent vacation.

On the Friday afternoon before vacation, the Junior basketball team captured the boys' interclass championship by defeating the Seniors by a score of 32 to 0. The Sophomores won second place by a 19 to 3 victory over the Freshmen. This is the first year since the sport was adopted at Newton that the Seniors have not won the championship.

The school hockey squad has passed through two busy weeks, in preparation for the opening games of the season. The prospects for a strong team this season are unusually bright. The veterans are Capt. LaCroix, Buntin, Eaton, Hughes, and Garrity. A large number of promising new candidates are contesting for the two vacant positions.

The team will again be a member of the Interscholastic Hockey League, in which Newton has finished second for the past two seasons. The league this year will be made up of the same schools as in the past, with the exception of Brookline High, which will be a new member. Followers of Newton hockey are confident that the local team will capture the championship this winter. The strongest contenders will very probably be Brookline and Arlington.

Newton's first league contest will be played at the Boston Arena this afternoon, with the strong Arlington High seven as the opponents. Although this is the first important game for both teams, it will doubtless have much to do with the final standing in the league.

Track candidates have been at work in the gymnasium during the week of vacation. The first practice was held Tuesday morning, December 26. The number of candidates was much less than had been expected, and has failed to increase materially since that day. Coach Dickinson has issued a second call for candidates, and is anxious that the number shall be increased immediately.

Prospects for a strong track team this winter are poorer than in past seasons. Only four members of last year's star team are in school this winter, and of these only two are "N" men. Hayes, the star sprinter and 300 yarder, Capt. Garrity in the 600, Bowen in the 1000 yard run, and Nutting in the short runs, are the best runners who have reported. Billings and Brimblecom should be the leaders in the high jump. Billings is also the most experienced shot putter. The hurdlers are almost entirely without experience, although Bowen and Dudley are showing fair form at present.

The annual Interclass Meet will be held on Friday evening, January 26. Arthur S. Roberts, a former track captain of this school, and now a student at Syracuse University, won first place Monday night in the high jump of the junior national indoor championship meet held at Buffalo.

TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

At the regular Senior Assembly on Friday, December 22, the students were entertained by fourteen members of the class, who presented Dickens' "Christmas Carol." These pupils gave an exceptionally good dramatization of the story, and furnished great enjoyment for their classmates.

Miss Katherine Brie, a former supervisor in this school, and Mr. Oliver, a former teacher who is now engaged in Minneapolis, visited the school Tuesday.

Mr. David Douglas, who was last year awarded the French cross of honor for bravery while on ambulance duty in Europe, has been visiting the school with Mr. Lawrence Merrill, who was graduated several years ago. It is expected that Mr. Douglas will next week give a talk in the Assembly Hall, relating several of his most interesting experiences while at the front.

Miss Elizabeth A. H. Sleeper, at one time Head of the French Department of the Newton Technical High School, has been elected a member of the School Board of Fitchburg, Mass.

CITY HALL

The Board of Health states that Newton had the lowest death rate in 1916 for the last ten years, with 470 reported deaths and a rate of but 10.70 per 1000. There was also a great reduction in the reported cases of contagious diseases over the figures of 1915.

Buildings Commissioner Forbush reports the largest business in 1916 in the history of his office. 690 permits for new buildings, valued at $2,915,258, were issued and 299 permits for alterations valued at $251,690. The total of $3,166,948 for the year exceeding that of 1915 by nearly $100,000.

WILBUR THEATRE—Oliver Morosco, one of the foremost producing managers in the country, brought, Tuesday evening, January 2nd, to the Wilbur Theatre, a most unusual play, and a new star. The play is "The Unchaste Woman," written by Dr. Louis K. Anspacher. It scored the big dramatic hit in New York City, last season, where Mr. Morosco presented it for seven months at the Thirty-ninth Street Theatre, and the star is Miss Emily Stevens, whose work as "Caroline Knolys," the central figure of Dr. Anspacher's play, has won for her the highest commendation it is possible to give an actress. Herself a niece of the timber of which successful stars are made,—intelligent, thoughtful and possessed of much puissance. Miss Stevens' role is said to be a fascinating study of curious womanhood,—modernized Hedda Gabler,—and it is a character that is absolutely new to the stage and one the author is said to have limned with the greatest possible skill.

Witness, Charles J. McIntire, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this twenty-seventh day of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and sixteen.

ALDERMANIC DINNER

Following the usual custom of previous years, the retiring board of aldermen held its annual banquet on Wednesday evening. Members of the board and their guests were told to assemble at the City Hall and were kept in ignorance of every detail of place or entertainment by the committee in charge. The board was then called to order to transact some business that had been neglected and after considerable fake business which was taken somewhat seriously by part of the Board. Caterer Marshall was brought before the members by a fake policeman and ordered to furnish food to the starving members. The dinner was then served to the members as they were seated at their desks and proved a most pleasing innovation. A humorous docket was provided for the "Bored Aldermen of 1916" and was well carried out, a hearing to the Rev. Billy Sunday impersonated by Alderman Bentley being thoroly enjoyed, together with verses from the poet laureate of the board, Alderman Hollis, and Alderman Haggard painted a beautiful word picture in bidding good bye to the retiring members. Remarks were also made by Mayor Childs, and the retiring aldermen, George F. Malcolm, John S. Alley, Sumner Clement, L. D. G. Bentley and President Blanchard. The success of the dinner was entirely due to the chairman of the Dinner committee, Alderman Clark.

REGARDING CIVIL SERVICE

Every year the increasing business of our city, state and national governments, due to the country's growth in wealth and population, calls for a greater number of Civil Service workers. These men and women are employed under better labor conditions than it is possible to find in private enterprises, and at salaries which have been made high purposely to attract the best class of employees.

Others are securing these positions; why not you? Your chances are as good as another's; for appointments are entirely free from political influence;—each competitor stands on his own merits alone. Act on the suggestion now.

Newton has an evening school which conducts a course for the benefit of those who are preparing for examinations. Do not leave the review to a few nights' work at random with your old text books, but systematize your effort under proper direction. Again, if you are not so well advanced as you feel you should be, the course in the Evening Vocational School will give you an opportunity to learn what you need. At all events, do not say, as so many do, "The examination will not be held until September. I'll wait till then." Be sure: find out now what you need to review.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—Next week will be the second of Grace George's triumphal engagement in Boston at the Plymouth Theatre. On New Year's night she opened there for a special season with her Playhouse Company, which she brought directly from New York, presenting "Major Barbara" by Bernard Shaw. This was the greatest success of Miss George's long season in New York last year, and consequently she used it to introduce her brilliant acting company to Boston. The prestige of a new Shaw play and its popular appeal, together with Miss George's standing as a star, now at the height of her career, and a remarkable repertory company without its like in the country, all united to make the opening at the Plymouth Theatre Monday night the event of the season. Public and press united in acclaim to Grace George.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—Everything is new in "Bringing up Father in Politics" which at the Castle Square begins its second week on Monday. Everybody is familiar with these famous newspaper pictures. They have amused multitudes, and as a laugh producer has no equal for it is filled with ludicrous situations when Jiggs Mahoney is elected to Congress as the result of Mother's social ambitions. Music and comedy combine to make "Bringing up Father in Politics" a merry show from beginning to end.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

With a view to assisting the clubs in securing the sort of publicity they want for their work, the New England Woman's Press Association has arranged a Press conference for Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 10, at three o'clock, in the New England Women's Club rooms, 585 Boylston street, Boston. The presidents and press correspondents of all the federated clubs of Greater Boston have been invited. Miss Helen M. Winslow, long identified with women's clubs and press work, and other newspaper women will endeavor to explain just what the newspapers want and can use as reports from the women's clubs. The Club Editor takes pleasure in extending to the representatives of the Newton clubs, which do not belong to the State Federation, a cordial invitation to attend. A personal card with name of club will be necessary for admission. An additional attraction of the conference will be the address by Mrs. Mary L. Wood of the Bureau of Information of the General Federation, who will tell of the work of the Bureau. Those who heard Mrs. Wood at the New York Biennial will recall with pleasure what she told the convention of the human side of the Bureau, and will welcome the opportunity of meeting her again.

Best wishes for a prosperous New Year of work and opportunity to serve the best interests of the community.

State Federation

Tuesday, Jan. 9, 2.00 P. M. State Legislative conference at the Brightelmstone Club house, 541 Cambridge street, Allston. Mr. Loring B. Young will speak on the question, "Does the Legislature welcome the help of the club women?" Other speakers will explain coming legislative measures. All interested invited to attend and Legislative committees are expected to be present.

Wednesday, Jan. 10, 3.00 P. M. Home Economics conference at Salem by invitation of the Salem Woman's Club. Subject of discussion: "Ways of meeting the present high cost of living." Trains leave North Station at 1:35 and 2:20 P. M.

Thursday, Jan. 11, 2.00 P. M. Combined conference of the Education and Literature and Library Extension departments at the Woman's Club House, Worcester. An attractive program has been arranged. Delegates are urged to reach Worcester in the forenoon in order to visit the many interesting exhibits and classes which will be opened to them. Luncheon will be prepared and served by the Girls' Trade School at the building of the Boys' Trade School directly opposite the Woman's Club for those who order it in advance.

Local Announcements

Silver Anniversary of the Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club will take place at the home of Mrs. Edwin S. Drowne, Lakewood road, on Saturday afternoon. Further particulars are given below.

The annual Presidents' Day of the Waban Woman's Club postponed from last week will take place on Monday, Jan. 8, in the Union Church vestry. Miss Frances Nevin will give a recital of "Lohengrin." Members having daughters of high school age may invite them.

On Monday afternoon the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. will hold its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Emery Clark of Allerton road.

The Travel Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will meet with Mrs. E. F. Reed, 358 Waltham street, on Jan. 8th.

"Feeding of Children and School Luncheons" will be the subject presented at the meeting of the Brightelmstone Club, under the direction of the Home department, on Jan. 8, at 2:30 P. M.

On Tuesday, Jan. 9, at 2:30, the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands will hold its first meeting in the Episcopal parish house. Those who intend joining the club are asked to come early to give plenty of time to pay dues and become enrolled as members.

The Home Economics class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will meet with Mrs. Arthur B. Munroe of Mt. Vernon street, Newtonville, on Tuesday, Jan. 9, at one o'clock.

On Tuesday morning the Auburndale Review Club will meet at the home of Mrs. F. N. Peloubet, 132 Woodland road.

The Newton Parliamentary Law Club meets at the Newton Library on Jan. 9, at 10:15 A. M.

The members of the Home Economics department of the Newton Highlands Woman's Club will attend a demonstration luncheon at 270 Boylston street, Boston, next Tuesday. Mrs. E. P. Craine is in charge.

ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Newton Amateur Opera Association, Inc., was held Tuesday evening in Players' Hall, West Newton. The board of directors was increased by two new members, and the following officers were chosen: Hon. Charles E. Hatfield, president; Francis W. Sprague, 2d, secretary, and Roland F. Gammons, treasurer. It was decided to conduct another show in the spring.

read, especially modern drama. Valuable training in reading and expression will be given. Make application to Mrs. Harry Beal, 58 Auburn street.

On Wednesday morning Dr. Benjamin Rand, Royal Robbins Library, Cambridge, will speak before the Social Science Club on, "War Conditions in England." Members may invite guests.

Local Happenings

The meeting of the Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club on Dec. 30 partook more of the Christmas spirit than of a real work-a-day meeting, more time being given to the social side than is usual. A small Christmas tree was laden with gifts with which two of the members were showered. Mrs. Harry N. Milliken was in charge of the study of the 4th and 5th acts of King Henry IV, Part 1.

Tomorrow afternoon the club observes its Silver Anniversary with Twelfth Night Revels. The committee in charge has sent out clever invitations on parchment, which read as follows:

"By these presents be it known that you are invited to our Twelfth Night revels, At the home of Mistress Drowne On the turnpike known as Lakewood, Said gathering to take place on Saturday, The sixth day of January. If in the mood, come at one by the Town clock, clad as a child of Shakespeare. With your manner to match, And bearing in the hand a sprig Of yule-tide green, the purpose of which Will be set forth in due time. May joy come with you!"

Many guests accepted the invitation of the Brightelmstone Club to attend its meeting on New Year's Day, though the fact of its being a legal holiday probably deterred a considerable number. In place of the customary flower with which guests are ordinarily adorned, each one was given a tiny calendar attached to a Christmas ribbon, a suggestive reminder of the day. Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney, president of the State Federation, was the guest of honor and made a brief address in which she plead for the loyalty and co-operation of club women, emphasizing the co-operation with other organizations which are doing a similar work. She cited her own experience of seeing at first hand the work of the Travellers' Aid Society on the arrival of the Canopic at Commonwealth Pier a short time since, where she saw scenes which she had previously supposed existed in story books only.

An enjoyable musical program was given, consisting of instrumental numbers for violin, cello and piano and songs by a former member of the club. A social hour with refreshments closed a delightful afternoon.

At the meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Guild on Tuesday afternoon Miss Margaret McGill, one of the members, gave an interesting talk upon "Russia," in which she told of the manners and customs of the people and at the close exhibited lantern slide views of the chief cities of the country. Mrs. L. E. Moore rendered two Russian songs. The Social committee, who were in charge of the tea, treated the members to a real "Russian Tea." The table was adorned with Russian candelabra, while the ladies who poured, Mrs. Henry V. Jones, Miss Louise R. Sherman and Mrs. A. L. Wakefield, were dressed in Russian costume. In the absence of the president, Mrs. W. S. Higgins, who is ill, Mrs. W. S. Smythe, was in the chair.

Sewing for the French wounded was resumed by members of the Guild today and will be continued each Friday from 9:30 to 3:30.

The Newton Mothers' Club held a most successful luncheon-bridge at the Brae-Burn Country Club on Tuesday afternoon. Luncheon was served both in the dining room and in the sun parlor to about 175 members and guests, after which the afternoon was spent at cards. A considerable sum was netted for the general philanthropic work of the club.

On Wednesday morning at the business meeting of the Social Club the Stamp Savings committee spoke of increased activity in that work and the necessity of purchasing additional stamps was provided for by an appropriation from the treasury. The Bird committee urged the winter feeding of birds and the particular desirability of taking food to Cabot's woods was suggested, that quail and other wild birds may get it, so much of what is put out near the houses being secured by the English sparrows. A large part of the morning was put into the hands of the Conservation and Education committees, who presented a most appreciative account of the nature work now being done in the schools under the direction of Mr. C. McDonald. Note books of some of the pupils of the Bigelow school were exhibited, which would be a credit to much older children. The information which the children are gaining of the use of trees, of their proper care, of tree enemies, the work on bulbs which they are doing this winter, and in the school gardens next summer will all serve to open their eyes to out-of-doors in a way which will increase their love for nature and provide an inner resource in all their after lives.

It was voted to omit the meeting scheduled for Feb. 28 in order to leave the members free to attend the meeting of the Newton Federation on that day. The Classes committee of the Auburndale Woman's Club announced a class in dramatic reading to be conducted by Mrs. Mary E. Herron, chairman of the Dramatic Committee. The course will consist of ten lessons, which will be neither formal nor formidable, no home work being assigned. A number of plays will be read. The Federation Day meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club was held on Tuesday, January 2nd, in the Methodist Parish House. After the usual business, the meeting was addressed by five workers of the Massachusetts State Federation. Mrs. F. P. McCormick spoke of the work and aims of the Music department. Individual clubs are encouraged to further Community music, especially choral singing. The best way to appreciate music

Federation Day

The Federation Day meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club was held on Tuesday, January 2nd, in the Methodist Parish House. After the usual business, the meeting was addressed by five workers of the Massachusetts State Federation. Mrs. F. P. McCormick spoke of the work and aims of the Music department. Individual clubs are encouraged to further Community music, especially choral singing. The best way to appreciate music sic is to make it. The department has outlined three courses for Club study classes; 1, Fols music; 2, History of classical music; 3, American music, both folk songs and art music. Contrary to the general belief, America is rich in folk music. In illustration Mrs. McCormick sang a traditional song from Hayti, probably of far away French origin, and an Indian song, the melody being the ancient tobacco dance of the Crow Indians, and the words of Navajo origin. The songs were beautifully rendered, with Mrs. MacNutt at the piano.

Mrs. Walter S. Little, chairman of the Art department, spoke of her special work. A knowledge of the principles of art is not a far off, abstract thing, but should guide us in the selections we are daily called upon to make. The aim of the department is to widen the sphere of art, that it may embrace all the arts, and to relate art to life. The work is along three lines, lectures, classes and public work. Lists of speakers and courses of study are prepared for the use of clubs. The art committee of each club is asked to send in a list of its local art, and to arouse interest in the fund which is to place a statue of Anne Hutchinson in the Public Library. The movement which now finds such full expression in women's clubs may be said to have begun in her fearless life and teaching.

Mrs. Irving H. Schell, chairman of the Literature department, made a plea for the worth of modern literature, the reading of which seems to be out of style. Much fine literary work is being done now. If you watch a man's work from the beginning, you will see how he has changed, and trace a parallel change in yourself. This department publishes book notes in the Federation Bulletin, aiming to bring before club members ideas that will germinate ideas. A list of plays suitable for production by clubs has been arranged, also courses for study classes. Attention is given to the following, "Is labor property?" "Is it safe to allow the majority to rule?" "Do you favor or oppose President Wilson's policies?"

After a brief intermission, Mrs. W. E. Birdsall will give an address on "Civics and Economics—some everyday practical problems."

DAY—REYNOLDS

The wedding of Miss Katharine Reynolds, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Reynolds and Mr. Frank A. Day of Newton, took place last Saturday evening at the home of the bride on Bowdoin street, Newton Highlands. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by Rev. H. Grant Person, pastor of Eliot Church, and only the immediate families were present. Miss Alice Reynolds, a sister of the bride was the maid of honor and the groom was attended by his cousin, Mr. Eben Howes Ellison, Jr., as best man.

Following a wedding trip thru the South, Mr. and Mrs. Day will be at home to their friends, at 154 Sargent street, Newton, after March first.

TO ENFORCE PEACE

Address of Mr. J. Mott Hallowell before the Board of Trade

At the annual meeting of the Newton Board of Trade, Mr. J. Mott Hallowell gave an interesting address on the purpose of the League to Enforce Peace. Mr. Hallowell said in part:

Twelve months ago the principles of the League to Enforce peace, for which I speak tonight, were merely a set of abstract propositions under consideration by a few specialists in international law but regarded, even by them, as possibilities of the remote future. Today they form one of the greatest practical political questions that the world is now considering. They have been approved by the late Republican candidate for the presidency, Mr. Hughes. They are approved by President Wilson. They have the endorsement of Lord Bryce, Lord Asquith, Sir Edward Grey, Lloyd George, Lord Curzon and Premier Briand. Public press dispatches are authority for the statement that they are supported even by the high Imperial Chancellor of Germany. In the United States, state organizations have been formed in 44 states with an ever increasing membership. The Massachusetts State Branch, although having made no special attempt to get membership, has now an active membership of over 8000.

First, let me now state a few elementary principles. The League to Enforce Peace is not an attempt to end the present war. I cannot emphasize this fact too strongly. The League to Enforce Peace has nothing to do with the present war and is making no attempt either direct or indirect to bring it to a close.

RELIGION AND SOCIAL MOVEMENTS

Rev. Dr. Walter G. Rauschenbusch the Speaker at the Newton South Community Forum

At the weekly meeting of the Newton South Community Forum held Sunday afternoon at Lincoln hall, the speaker was Prof. Walter Rauschenbusch, D.D., on the subject of "The Old Religious Faith and the New Social Enthusiasm."

Dr. Rauschenbusch said in part:—

The subject about which I am going to speak to you today comprises of two things. The old faith and the new social enthusiasm. Here are two great spiritual forces, the greatest spiritual forces in modern times. Both have their own history, each of them has its own distinctive character. The religious faith was the faith of our fathers and has been handed down for centuries. It has had a great influence on the English, French and German languages, the three greatest languages on this earth today. The effect it has had in art and music. Take out art and see what a loss it would be. Take out music and what a loss there would be there. Religion has been an inspiring force in all Christianity. Christianity has given to humanity many saints and heroes to the human race. It is very likely that some of us may be thinking of the time when a great deal of intolerance, bitterness and cruelty that were put into human history from religion. We must not lose the fact that the Christian church was put down in a dark and cruel time. There is no doubt that the Christian religion and Jewish religion too for that matter, are a good deal like an old man who shows scars of old age. No man will come to old age, who will not feel repentance and sorrow. In 1903 the census showed that there were 33,000,000 members of the Church. If you take all the fraternal organizations together they probably do not make 12,000 while some men belong to more than one organization but they do not belong to more than one church. It is wonderful that the church has been able to hold them. It does not give them anything in return like an insurance policy or a sick benefit.

The social movement is comparatively young. Take the modern radical movement of politics or the single tax movement or any of these, not one can compare with the social movement of modern times. Most of us are connected with one, two or probably three of these, but taking them altogether they have been bound by a common bond of enthusiasm.

Here are these two great movements side by side each of them with its own spirit of enthusiasm and love. Now what is the attitude of these two great spiritual forces in modern times? They run parallel to a considerable degree, on the other hand they are rival movements, just because they have so much in common, they clash at certain points and each tries to hold its adherence to and to keep them away from the other. The Christian church holds on to its own and becomes selfish against the movement that antagonizes its power. The social movement is angry against the Christian church for holding on to the people so fast.

The church has the feeling that many of the social movements are dangerous. My conviction is that we ought to have a combination of the two, the church and the social movement and we will not rest until we combine the two. Every man needs the information that would come to him through this movement which is represented by social teaching and which would have a much wider outlook.

I have a friend who is a health officer in the City of Toronto and he told me sometime ago that if they tested milk and found it bad they poured it out into the streets and pasted a red label on the empty cans. The religious people who have received into their minds the ideals of the social movement show a gentleness and force which other men do not have. Those who have taken up social enthusiasm have received into their personality something that enlarges them and immediately reacts on their religious life. When I was young I felt the power of salvation and Christianity and the desire to help humanity. When I came to maturity I had a great desire to help humanity and serve God and it was only choice whether I would go and be a missionary or become a minister and I chose the latter. In New York I came into contact with social enthusiasm, something which had been kept away from me all my life. In my home and in my college life I never came into contact with it. Then I came into contact with the Henry George land tax movement, single tax movement, labor movement and then came the war and peace movement which of course is a newer one. I give addresses to religious people and sometimes to socialists. When I talk to the religious people I give them social ideas which they do not like and which they ought to have and when I talk to socialists I take up religion which they do not like but which they both need.

When a man gets along in years he cannot change his ideas from those his father and forefather have had. The same is true with the Christian Church, it cannot drop the ideas of long ago and take up those of the present needs. When a denomination of any kind starts out they have some ideas and have a certain enthusiasm and swing in it and after a time they lose that swing and enthusiasm and mark time.

One great fact that the union of these two forces would have in regard to modern judgment by the church relating to sin. Unless you can show a man that his past life is over and that he can start anew you cannot make him repent. The trouble with the Christian Church has been that it has put its finger on sins that are not large enough.

I have a friend who is a health officer in the City of Toronto and he told me sometime ago that if they tested milk and found it bad they poured it out into the streets and pasted a red label on the empty cans. The religious people who have received into their minds the ideals of the social movement show a gentleness and force which other men do not have. ELECTS NEW PRESIDENT

Mr. H. W. Orr will Head the Newton Board of Trade for 1917

The fourth annual meeting of the Newton Board of Trade was held Monday evening at headquarters at Newtonville with a large attendance of members.

President W. L. Sampson read his annual report which showed that over $900 had been received and that all bills were paid and a slight balance remained in the Treasury.

The annual report of the Secretary, Harold Moore, showed that the year had been one of marked advancement.

The membership is 240, an increase of 126 in the past two years. Three members, E. P. Gowdy, Malcolm McPhee and Fred L. Cook all of West Newton were lost during the past year by death. Ten members, merchants of Newton, either failed or for some such reason were obliged to close their places of business, and the secretary said he was also aware of several others who were non-members who had similar experiences.

The report also contained an account of all the meetings, speakers, etc., the work of the various committees and other activities of the organization.

This year marked the affiliation of the Newton Board with the Mass. State Board of Trade, one of the most influential agencies in the life of this Commonwealth.

One of the most important actions taken during the year 1916 was inaugurating a Credit System. Ratings on nearly 10,000 of this city, who ask credit of the local merchants, has been procured and the new system will tend to keep credit with only those who deserve it. People who think it cheaper and easier "to move than pay rent" will soon learn otherwise in this city.

President Cozens paid tribute, in his report, to the loyalty of the officers and members during his two years' term of office. He said, "service must be the key-note of a successful Board of Trade. He who serves most who

EDITORIAL

The residents of Newton who receive their water bills the present week will note that the advance charge for water has been reduced from $10 to $9 a year. This marks the third step in the campaign inaugurated more than ten years ago by the GRAPHIC for a reduction in water rates. The first step took place under Mayor Hutchinson when the former charge of $2.00 for meter rent was abolished. The second step under Mayor Hatfield when the rate per 1000 gallons was reduced from 35 to about 30 cents and the faucet rate dropped from $6 to $5. Coupled with the reduction in the advanced charge which is noted on the 1917 bills will be a further reduction in the rate per 1000 gallons from 30 to a little less than 27 cents, altho this will not show on the bills until July for some and next January for the remainder. These various reductions figured on the amount of water now consumed show that the water takers of Newton are paying about $40,000 or 30 per cent less than the water consumers of ten years ago. In connection with this subject, let us again urge that steps be taken to pay for water main extensions out of bond issues instead of out of earnings as at present. This would relieve the water revenue of about $30,000 annually and allow a still further reduction in the present rate. If the water used in this city was being furnished by a private company (similar to the electricity furnished by the Edison Co.) there would be no doubt of a strong and vigorous protest against allowing a private corporation to use its earnings to increase its plant. And yet that is just what the City of Newton is doing today with its water revenue. This subject was touched upon in the recent report of the Efficiency expert and should be heeded by our city fathers. It should also be said that a private corporation would make a charge of $25,000 annually for water used at hydrants, would receive at least $15,000 from the Street department for flushing sewers, watering streets and similar work and would make several thousand dollars from water supplied the school, fire, police and other municipal departments. No wonder with all these burdens placed on the shoulders of the water consumers of today, we have about as high a water rate as any place in the state.

Believers in equal suffrage will be interested in a bill filed by Senator McKnight of Medford to allow women to vote on the license question in cities and towns. The measure will probably meet with an early death, but it is a straw indicating the logical steps to be taken in this state to bring about "votes for women."

While other communities are evidently taking an active interest right now in the selection of delegates to represent them in the coming constitutional convention, Newton residents are apparently willing to let the matter go by default. Fortunately, however, some good men are willing to serve, and by the first of April there will be undoubtedly a goodly list to choose from. So far as I have been able to gather, the names of Hon. George S. Smith, Hon. Samuel L. Powers, Hon. George H. Ellis, William F. Garcelon, James A. Lowell, Charles A. Andrews, Charles S. Ensign, James P. Richardson, Judge Marcus Morton, Joseph W. Bartlett, Chas. R. Clapp, Mason H. Stone and Representative Jarvis have been mentioned. Mr. Smith will probably be a delegate from our Congressional district, where he was elected last November as a Presidential elector. Mr. Powers will probably be on the ticket as one of the state delegates. It is said that Judge Morton would like to follow in the footsteps of his father and grandfather who sat in the two Constitutional conventions held in the last century. Representatives Weston and Allen have definitely decided not to be candidates for this convention, while Mr. Jarvis is said to be urged by many of his constituents to stand as a delegate and is now considering the matter.

Nomination papers must be filed at the State House by the first of March so that prompt action will be necessary if the right men are to be induced to stand as delegates.

Mr. Raymond L. Bridgeman of Auburndale, a veteran and one of the best of the State House reporters, has an exceedingly interesting article regarding the constitutional convention in the Boston Transcript of Wednesday. It should be read by everyone interested in the character of our government.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

NEWTON MEN DIRECTORS

Residents of this city are well represented in the directorates of the Boston National Banks and Trust Companies which have held their annual elections the present week and indeed, there are few banks in which will be filed, so that the committees can hardly assign hearings until the last of the month. It is a curious fact that while everyone admits the uselessness of wasting valuable time in this way, it is next to impossible to get the General Court to adopt recommendations of a recent recess commission which required all new matters to be filed before January 1st. A sane and sensible measure but one which has been repeatedly turned down.

There is considerable talk regarding Governor McCall's recommendations favoring old age pensions and health insurance. The governor evidently considers them of paramount importance for they are first mentioned in his inaugural. No one knows of course just how many persons might be affected if a non-contributory old age pension was put into effect in Massachusetts, but we do know that there are about 182,000 persons in the state 70 years of age or over. We also know that if the principle of this form of pensions was approved at the amount of $65 suggested by the governor, that it would soon rapidly mount to at least $200 a year, if not higher. While the governor has brought the subject prominently before the people in his message, it will be a great surprise if actual steps are taken by the present Legislature to carry it into effect.

Believers in equal suffrage will be interested in a bill filed by Senator McKnight of Medford to allow women to vote on the license question in cities and towns. The measure will probably meet with an early death, but it is a straw indicating the logical steps to be taken in this state to bring about "votes for women."

D. A. R. MEETS

The Lucy Jackson Chapter D. A. R. of Newton, held its January meeting at the Brae Burn Country Club on Monday afternoon, January eighth. The hostesses, Mrs. Howard H. Tucker, Miss Eva G. Van Wagenen, Mrs. Levi C. Wadleigh, Jr., and Mrs. A. C. Walker, received with the regent, Mrs. Fessenden.

The meeting was called to order at three o'clock, the regent presiding. There was a large attendance. The report of the secretary was read and accepted.

Mrs. Fessenden spoke of the Christmas box sent by our Chapter to the Heath School and how much it was appreciated. Mrs. Friend reported that her Committee recommended the sending of $10 to Continental Memorial Hall, as a special gift.

Mrs. Pulsifer spoke of the all day meeting for relief work held at her home on January 4th. There were about thirty ladies of the Chapter present and much work was accomplished.

At the conclusion of the business meeting Mrs. Fessenden spoke of her pleasure in presenting one of our own Chapter as the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Geo. P. Bullard. Mrs. Bullard's subject was "Boxes." After giving a very bright and interesting paper on the subject, she exhibited a collection of about fifty boxes of all sizes and kinds and from many different lands—boxes of alabaster, cloisonne, Chinese, Japanese and Indian lacquer and many others.

At the close of the meeting, the ladies were entertained by music, two duets sung by Miss Ferrin and Miss Keach, accompanied by Mrs. Sprague.

After singing America the usual social hour was enjoyed and refreshments served by the hostesses.

This will be an important meeting as well as one of good fellowship.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE NOTES

Suffrage leaders of Washington are planning a parade on Inauguration Day, March 4 in which women from all over the country will take part. It is intended that this suffrage parade shall eclipse any previous demonstration in the country. Its purpose will be not only to impress Congress with the power of the women of the United States, but to furnish a concrete proof to the tens of thousands of visitors, who will be present at that time, that the adherents of woman suffrage are a force to be reckoned with in politics, as well as in the home.

Besides all the other ghosts Mr.

David Lloyd George must face in the new British administration, there will be that Banquo's apparition of 3,219,000 women at work for their country.

England simply can't do without them for there seems to be no limit to the class of work women can do. Any redistribution of rights and privileges in Great Britain will have to look in the face three quarters of a million women who directly left their homes to take the places of men at the front, and the 2,500,000 who have indirectly replaced male labor. The thoughts of Lloyd George just now need to be long, long thoughts.

Mrs. Newton D. Baker, wife of the Secretary of War, has agreed to help the National American Woman Suffrage Association in its fight for nation-wide equal suffrage through Congress. She will have as her able assistants Mrs. William Jennings Bryan and Mrs. David F. Houston, wife of one of the President's cabinet advisors.

While the importance of the women's vote in the presidential contest is open to debate, there is no doubt that the election marked a decided advance for the women's cause. For one thing, the contention that women would not avail themselves of the voting privilege, even though it were accorded them, appears not to have been well founded when 40 per cent. of the vote in a big state like Illinois is estimated to have been polled by women. Another interesting point is found in the statements that the women voters, though unused to the process, marked their ballots quickly, intelligently and with very few errors causing an invalidation of votes. It cannot be doubted that these developments will be of value to the women in promoting their campaign for suffrage in other states. It is true that in order to lend solid justification to their cause women's interest must be displayed, not in exceptional instances merely, but as a regular thing. But so far as it goes the "secret" election promises advantage to the suffragists.—Springfield (Mass.) Union.

By a unanimous vote the Dutch Parliament has removed the constitutional disqualification of women for the franchise.

This means that women will no longer be refused the ballot merely because they are women. A revision of the electoral law, however, is necessary before the actual granting of the vote is effected.

This action is the result of an announcement made by Queen Wilhelmina a year ago that the government was to introduce a bill into Parliament eliminating the existing hindrances to the granting of suffrage to the women of Holland.

OF ANCIENT LINEAGE

The death last Friday of Charles Hamlet Dewing at Auburndale, removes from Newton one more of the last generation whose family was prominent in the earlier history of the town. He was a lineal descendant of Andrew Dewing the first settler in that part of old Dedham which is now Wellesley. Andrew Dewing bought from the Indians a stretch of land bordering the Charles River and about 1640 built a block house which, for a time, was the nearest white settlement to the Natick Indians. Mr. Dewing's father, Paul Dewing, was one of the first paper makers of Newton Lower Falls, when, nearly a century ago, the Lower Falls was the second paper making center in the country and a thriving and prosperous industrial community. In fact, up to 1820, the only post office established by the Government within Newton was at the Lower Falls.

Mr. Dewing's maternal grandfather was Thomas Durant, also of the Lower Falls. He designed and built St. Mary's Church and was one of the first wardens. This Thomas Durant was the great grandson of old Edward Durant, who, in 1739, conceived the idea of establishing a "country place" outside of Boston. Accordingly he bought 91 acres, including all of Nonantum hill except the northern slope, then owned by Captain John Jackson. For this piece of land he paid 1800 pounds. At the top of the hill he built his "country house." It was occupied at the time of the Revolution by the son Edward, Thomas Durant's grandfather, who had been a delegate from Newton to the Provincial Congress. In 1782, after Thomas Durant's father had been lost at sea on a Revolutionary privateer, the house passed into the hands of the Kendrick family. It still stands on Waverley avenue, its original simplicity and quaintness lost in a remodelling. Another one of Thomas Durant's ancestors was Deacon John Jackson who, in 1639, established the first permanent settlement in Newton. Later he gave an acre of land for the old burial ground upon it was erected the first church in 1660.

Charles H. Dewing was born at Newton Lower Falls November 16, 1834, in the home of his grandfather, Thomas Durant. The house is still standing on the river side of Washington street, the second house this side of the Falls. As his father was not successful in the paper business, Mr. Dewing became a "boy" in an old Boston shoe house.

Subsequently he became a member of the firm of Mackinney & Co., promoters. The firm introduced the "copper toe" for boys' shoes, a novelty popular just before the Civil War.

Later Mr. Dewing's firm went to New York and took part in the extensive railroad building that followed immediately after the close of the war. They built the first railroad bridge across the Hudson at Poughkeepsie.

Mr. Dewing later held the first electric lighting franchise for the city of Chicago, but was unable to secure capital to establish the enterprise. In 1878 he returned to Boston and was employed in various businesses. At the time of his death he was secretary of the Pittsburgh District Electric Company.

Although with no formal education beyond the village school, Mr. Dewing was an extensive reader in the field of English literature and throughout his life he devoted his spare time to literary pursuits, as eighteen volumes of scrap and note books attest. He was unusually familiar with the essayists and novelists of the early nineteenth century.

Mr. Dewing married in 1869 Eliza Stone Paine, daughter of the late David Paine. He is survived by a younger brother, the artist, Thomas W. Dewing of New York, and one son, Arthur S. Dewing, of Belmont.

During the last years he led a very retired life devoting much of his time to helping his son in historical and economic researches. Mr. Dewing had great interest in the local history of Needham and Newton.

The funeral took place last Monday at the residence of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Sturtevant with whom he had made his home for over a year. Dean Rousmaniere of St. Paul's Cathedral, uncle of Mr. Dewing's daughter-in-law, officiated. The burial was at St. Mary's Churchyard, at Newton Lower Falls, in the Durant family lot.

SIXTY-NINTH PUBLIC SERVICE

The New England Chapter of the American Guild of Organists held its sixty-ninth public service on Monday evening in Eliot Church.

"The Story of Christmas," was presented before a large and appreciative audience, by the quartet and chorus choir of the church, including 35 voices. The Organ Prelude, "Widor's First Organ Symphony," was played by Mr. John Hermann Loud, organist and choir master of the Park Street Church, Boston. The postlude, Rheinberger's "Praeludium from the Twentieth Sonata," was played by Mr. W. Lynnwood Farnum, organist and choir master of Emmanuel Church, Boston.

Mr. Everett E. Truette, organist and choir master of Eliot Church, played the service which was sung beautifully by the quartet, Miss Josephine Knight, soprano, Mrs. Adelaide Griggs Bowman, contralto, Mr. J. Garfield Stone, tenor, and Mr. Frederick W. Cutler, bass, assisted by the chorus.

SHUBERT THEATRE

—Of all those writing for the light opera stage in America today, none have given more pleasure to audiences than Victor Herbert and Henry Blossom, particularly when they are working together. After several years away from each other, it was Joe Weber who brought them together when they collaborated on "The Only Girl," three years ago. Now it is the same little comedian-manager who will produce what is said to be the most ambitious of their writings, a romantic comic opera entitled "Hearts of Erin," for the first time in Boston at the Shubert Theatre, beginning next Monday evening, January 15th, for a limited engagement, with the usual matinees. The brilliant company of 100 is headed by Vernon Stiles, a tenor of wonderful reputation. It has been arranged that Victor Herbert himself will personally conduct the Symphony Orchestra of 35 musicians at the opening performance.

CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

At a meeting of the Senior Class in the Assembly Hall last Friday morning, matters pertaining to the distribution of tickets for the Marshall Darrach recitals were discussed by Mr. Adams. The responsibility for the sale of tickets has been placed upon the Senior Classes of the three high schools. Nominations were then made for members of the picture committee, whose duty will be the selection of samples for the class photographs. Nominations were also made for the editor-in-chief and the manager of the "Newtonian," which is published annually in June.

A special meeting of the Senior Class was held in the hall on Wednesday morning. Mr. Adams suggested that the members of the class should be giving considerable thought to the question of Class Orator and Historian. The election of these two capacities, will take place within a very few weeks. At this meeting Ralph Emery was elected manager of the "Newtonian." The election of the editor-in-chief will be made by Australian Ballot.

At two o'clock Tuesday afternoon, January 16, Mr. Marshall Darrach of New York will give the first of his three Shakespearean recitals in the Assembly Hall. "The Tempest" will be the play presented. Mr. Darrach's recitals were very largely attended last year, and it is expected that the hall will be filled to capacity.

The school hockey team obtained an excellent start in the Interscholastic League series by its unexpected victory over the strong Arlington seven at the Boston Arena last Friday afternoon. The Newton team showed great promise of rounding into a champion combination, and outplayed their opponents from start to finish.

The game scheduled with English High for Tuesday afternoon was postponed on account of unfavorable weather conditions.

Tomorrow afternoon the Newton boys will make a trip to Concord, where they will meet the Middlesex School team.

A very interesting contest should take place at the Brae-Burn rink next Tuesday afternoon, when the Newton team will be opposed by the strong Malden High seven.

The track candidates are holding regular practice in the gymnasium on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons. Coach Dickinson is having great difficulty in filling the places of his former stars, but the new material is slowly developing into shape.

Brickhouse, a new sprint candidate, has been showing great promise. The first time trials for the school and midget relay teams were held yesterday afternoon.

TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

The regular assembly was held in the hall Wednesday morning. Mr. Edwin Mulready, Commissioner of Labor for Massachusetts, addressed the students upon subjects connected with his work.

Mr. David Douglas, a graduate of this school who has spent a year at the European front in driving a French army ambulance, and who was awarded the French cross of honor for bravery, will address the students in the Assembly Hall next week. Mr. Douglas intends to relate a number of his experiences in the war, and will also have on hand a large collection of very interesting relics which he has brought home with him from Europe.

—CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE— "Come Back to Erin," one of the latest and most successful of Irish comedy dramas will have its first production at the Castle Square next Monday evening. It will be given for one week only, and it will introduce in the leading role a new star, Walter Lawrence, after a long experience in opera and musical comedy, is now appearing in this play as a singing comedian. Coming to the Castle Square on January 22d, for a two weeks' engagement will be the popular comedy from Louise Alcott's novel, "Little Women." Henrietta McDaniel, long a favorite with Boston playgoers, will be in the cast.

—Mr. Dewing married in 1869 Eliza Stone Paine, daughter of the late David Paine. He is survived by a younger brother, the artist, Thomas W. Dewing of New York, and one son, Arthur S. Dewing, of Belmont.

During the last years he led a very retired life devoting much of his time to helping his son in historical and economic researches. Mr. Dewing had great interest in the local history of Needham and Newton.

Mrs. Marcus Morton entertained at luncheon last week on Thursday at Brae Burn.

Mrs. Johnson of Waban gave a bridge party and tea on Monday afternoon at the Club.

—Skating Carnival will be held this evening at the Club if the weather conditions are favorable. During the skating season a hurdy-gurdy plays at the pond every day, excepting Sunday, from 10 a. m. until 10 p. m.

—Afternoon tea will be served Sunday afternoons in the Club House. Music will be furnished by an orchestra.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

New England hospitality and New England cooking have won enviable places for themselves in the minds of all our friends who were not so fortunate as to have been born New Englanders. There is probably no one among us who has not some vivid memory of being nearly killed with kindness at some time or other. Fashions change in food and in the manner of serving it as they do in everything else. Especially is this true of the summer hotels. The time once was when their Sunday dinner menu contained everything that the mind of man had ever conceived, to say nothing of a few with which he had never before had even a bowing acquaintance. The movement toward simpler menus has been a welcome change. Similar changes would be likewise welcomed in other directions.

Elaborate preparations for Guest Days are matters, which club chairmen might well take to heart, and consider whether or no true hospitality may not consist in some things which are not always taken into thought. Economy of time is, perhaps, one of the most necessary of economies today. Do club women when planning these affairs consider as carefully as they might the little matters, which mean so much to busy club presidents and to others who have given up an afternoon to acknowledge the courtesy extended to their respective organizations. The family of the club president do not relinquish all claim upon her when she accepts the position and they have a right to her presence at the family dinner table at a reasonably early hour. In places where train service is infrequent, the hour of arrival and departure of trains should be more carefully regarded than it often is. In one instance, known to the Clubhouse was beautifully decorated for the occasion with pink Killarney roses, ferns, and evergreens. The ceremony was performed at high noon, by Rev. Laurens MacLure, D. D., rector of Grace Church, the double ring form being used.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and was handsomely gowned in a travelling suit of gray mole cloth trimmed with seal, with hat to match, and sealskin furs, and carried a bouquet of variegated orchids. As the bridal party entered the hall, Wagner's Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin was played by Handley's Orchestra. The bride was unattended, and the bridegroom was assisted by Mr. Lorne Corsart of New York as best man. The ushers included Mr. Allen Kinsley of Newton, Mr. Barton Brooks of Newtonville, Mr. Philip Jamieson of Watertown, and Mr. Warren Tapley, brother of the bride, of Newtonville.

Following the ceremony a large reception was held, and a wedding breakfast was served in the dining-room. A pink and green color scheme was carried out in the table decorations, with pink roses, ferns and pink shaded candles.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones were assisted in receiving by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tapley, and Mr. and Mrs. William Herbert Jones of Newton.

Mrs. Tapley was gowned in blue net with iridescent bodice and panels, and wore a white satin hat, and Mrs. Jones, wore gray satin and chiffon with hat of gray velvet.

Guests numbering about 130 were present from Brockton, Cambridge, Lynn, Swampscott, New York, Boston and the Newtons.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones left on a wedding trip to the south, and on their return will reside at 44 Montvale road, Newton Centre, where they will be at home after April 1st.

NEWTON FEDERATION

The regular quarterly meeting of the Newton Federation will be held on Monday, Jan. 15, at 10:15 A. M., New Church parlor, Newtonville.

Local Announcements

The Newton Highlands Monday Club will meet with Mrs. C. A. Thompson, 1141 Walnut street, on Jan. 15. Topic, "King Richard III."

On Monday afternoon the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. holds its weekly meeting with Mrs. Sanford E. Thompson.

Francis G. Wadsworth of the Bureau of Education will address the Brightelmstone Club on "Educational Survey," at its meeting on Jan. 15.

The Auburndale Review Club will hold business meeting on Tuesday, January 15, at the home of Mrs. C. E. Katelle, 205 Grove street.

On Tuesday, Jan. 16, Bliss Perry will lecture before the Newtonville Woman's Guild on "Uncle Tom's Cabin." At the close of the lecture the members are invited for a half-hour organ recital on the new organ at the Newton Church.

The Music committee of the Auburndale Woman's Club has arranged a fine musical program for the meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the Congregational chapel to be given by the following artists: Miss Eva Farnum West, alto; Miss Rae Kilmer, harp; Miss Florence Martha Colby, cello; Miss Eleanor Brodie, piano; accompanists Mrs. MacNutt and Mrs. Herman Noyes. Miss Brodie, who takes the place of Mrs. Scudder, previously announced, is a talented pupil of Mrs. Francis Grover of Boston, and a member of the MacDowell Club, having played before that and other musical organizations with great success.

He told many interesting details regarding Life Drills on transatlantic ships, the careful inspection of passports at Liverpool, and the life in pens, where the food though much higher in price is of uniformly good quality.

He said the poor people are better off than ever before, but salaried people are less so.

Places of amusement, and music in parks for the diversion of the convalescing wounded, continue, all under the care of women.

He said London, as a great commercial center, was always the target for the Zeppelins.

He spoke of the excellent care England gives her prisoners, in providing wholesome, nourishing food, comfortable quarters, and said that cleanliness is insisted upon.

He told of the piteous sight when the Belgian refugees came in, the burden of whose care fell upon the women volunteer workers. These refugees have been formed into colonies in thinly settled district and are engaged in making munitions.

Women work in the hospital supply depots, in registration bureaus, in municipal offices, in station lunch counters etc. They send food to prisoners in Germany, and comforts to soldiers at the front. They write letters for the wounded, sell tickets, drive motors, check trunks, act as floor walkers, deliver mail, and scrub floors.

And what of the future?

It has been found that man in time of peace has been doing work which women can do as well.

After the war, the returning soldiers probably will not wish to act as guardsmen, servants and ticket-takers.

the Club House Fund on Jan. 30 and 31. More than 100 will participate in this musical extravaganza and rehearsals will begin next week. Many well known people will take part in the cast and in chorus groups and a number of spectacular dances will be introduced.

Local Happenings

On Monday afternoon the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. met at the home of Mrs. Emery Clark and under the leadership of Mrs. Philip S. Sweetser considered "The Modern Russian Novel." A number of books were touched upon and a prominent characteristic of them all was shown to be their extreme realism.

Owing to the illness of Mrs. E. P. Allen the Christian Era Study Club met with Mrs. Dike, 113 Hancock street, on Monday of this week. The first topic for the day was Blanche of Castile. Her indomitable energy, power and above all her almost tyrannical devotion to her son, Louis IX., were described by Miss Blanche O' Neill. On the topic "The Romance of the Rose" Mrs. Harold Cook gave a short account of the poem and read portions showing the allegorical style in which Chaucer wrote. The last topic "Hospitals," was treated by Miss Abbie Hall who pointed out their growth from as far back as 1134 B. C., when record is made of them in Greece. Their erection in 220 B. C. by Buddha and also by the Fire-Worshippers in India proves that hospitals are not, as one might suppose, the product of modern civilization.

The Auburndale Review Club met on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. F. N. Peloubet, 132 Woodland road. Mrs. E. J. Frost read a resume of "The Cherry Orchard" by Chekhov, after which the play was presented by Mrs. A. R. Wells, chairman, Mrs. E. J. Frost, Mrs. W. W. Cole and Mrs. N. W. Denett, assisted by Mrs. C. D. Pickard, Miss Margaret Haskell, Miss Wells and Mrs. R. O. Walter. Violin music was furnished by Miss Miriam Herron accompanied by Mrs. Nelson Freeman.

On Tuesday afternoon in the Episcopalian Parish House the new Woman's Club of Newton Highlands held its first meeting under most favorable auspices. Over 250 women enrolled themselves as members. Mrs. C. G. Wetherbee, the president, was in the chair, after a brief business meeting, Rev. Brewster Eddy gave a remarkable address upon "Five Weeks with Kitchener's Mob," in which he gave personal experiences of the past summer among the Y. M. C. A. stations in the trenches.

Thirty-three members of the Home Economics Class of the Newtonville Woman's Guild attended the demonstration luncheon given on Tuesday at the Home Food Craft Shop, 270 Boylston street, Boston. Owing to the limited accommodations the attendance was confined to the members of the class and could not be open to all members of the Guild. A simple luncheon of five courses was served and afterwards Miss Cowan, the demonstrator, gave a talk upon the various materials which had been used and told the women where they might be secured.

It was an innovation on the part of the class and was much enjoyed by those who attended. Mrs. E. P. Crawe was in charge of the arrangements.

At the Newton Centre Woman's Club yesterday Rev. A. M. Rihbany lectured on "The Foreigner in America." The subject is one near to the hearts and well being of all Americans and Mr. Rihbany's message is of great interest.

Preparations for "Fif of the Toy Shop" are well under way. He who is wise will save the dates, matines on January 30th and evening performance on January 31st.

The Travel Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club met Monday at the home of Mrs. Ellen F. Reed and listened to two very interesting papers: Hawaii, Guam and Samoa were vividly described by Mrs. Ernest Robinson, who brought with her magazines published in these countries to show how much like us the people of those islands are becoming.

Mrs. Guy Holbrook told of Utah, the land of wonders, and passed around pictures of its great natural bridges, huge trees, etc.

On Tuesday, the Home Economics class met with Mrs. Arthur B. Munroe when a delicious demonstration luncheon was given by members of her committee, who kept a "well-balanced meal" well in mind, and served to each the proper number of calories, and a few more.

During the afternoon Mrs. Harry S. Wells told the class of "Foods and their adulterations." Mrs. John McLean gave some kitchen tests for purity in foods, and Mrs. Robinson read an interesting and enlightening paper on Winter Vegetables.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Guild of the Church of the Messiah will be held in the parish hall at three o'clock on Monday afternoon. Officers of the Guild and of the missionary and parish work departments will be elected.

Tea will be served after the meeting.

Last Wednesday morning, the Social Science Club enjoyed a morning of more than usual interest, when Dr. Benjamin Rand, Philosophical Librarian of the Royal Robbins Library of Cambridge, spoke upon the work which the women of England are doing.

The next meeting of the Waban Woman's Club will be held at the home of Mrs. Willard F. Scott, Monday, January 15th. Missabel C. Bragg will give a talk, Story Telling in the Schools. There will be a tea.

The next scene transported the company to sylvan glades when Titania (Mrs. Bicknell) entered and fell asleep on a mossy bank to be awakened by Bottom (Mrs. Drew), on whom the fairy queen lavished her transports of affection. The Three Witches appeared bearing a black cauldron and uttering weird rhymes. From the depths of the cauldron were drawn papers bearing the unanswered questions of the club for the last quarter century. For help in solving these riddles the wisdom of the Young Lady Across the Way had been invoked by one of the witches (Mrs. Pratt).

A shout of "Wassail!" was heard and the two mummets entered bearing the wassail bowl and singing its virtues. The Minstrel joined the song and all took up the chorus as the cups were filled. Then Mistress Page gave a toast to the club in which all joined heartily. After a club song the revels ended in a dance which kept the festive spirit alive until the closing moment.

The committee in charge of the festivities consisted of Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Pratt and Miss Crombie, who were well rewarded for their efforts by the happy spirit in which all entered into the gayeties of the occasion.

Before the luncheon Mrs. Michel gave an interesting account of Twelfth Night customs of various countries, whereupon appeared the members of the luncheon committee, bearing aloft the Boar's Head, the Twelfth Night cake and the Golden Apples. From the blazing candles on the cake each member lighted a taper and all formed in line and marched to the dining hall to an old English tune.

At the table Queen Elizabeth (Mrs. Eaton) and Queen Katherine (Mrs. Mick) hobnobbed with the Three Witches (Miss McCann, Mrs. Hatch and Mrs. Lewis), Peter Quince (Mrs. Drew), Launce (Mrs. Durgin) and Phoebe (Mrs. Snow). Mistress Ford (Mrs.

IMMIGRATION

Newton South Community Forum Listens to Address by Frederick C. Howe of New York

At the Newton South Community Forum held Sunday afternoon in Bray Hall, Newton Centre, there was a good attendance to hear Mr. Frederick C. Howe, director of the People's Institute of New York speak on the important question of "Immigration after the War."

Mr. Howe said in part:

My official title is described, Commissioner of Immigration at New York City. I have been called a modern St. Peter sitting at the gates of a paradise, but that I differ from the great St. Peter in that I close the doors on the meet and lowly. We have 10,000 people on Ellis Island and counting employees and all, we have a good-sized city or town. We haven't any policemen and we don't need any policemen. People are better than we think they are. Instead of the doctrine of original sin I would rather have the doctrine of good. Immigration is an economic problem. With the exception of those that came over in the Mayflower all the rest come over for economic reasons. A chance to get away from the hard conditions and they come over here not to vote but to be free. They come over for jobs, and when there are no jobs they go back, all depending on the economic conditions in this country. All over the world men are moving back and forth for economic reasons. What do you want of the immigrant? When you think of the immigrant do you want a servant girl, do you want cheap labor, do you want a gardener or do you want everybody to have the same freedom your ancestors had, to come to America? I have gone to cities where they are Americanizing the city. I have heard men state that they find the immigrant is very much more efficient, and he is a much better workman after they Americanize him, than he was before. That raises the question which comes back to, what do we want the immigrant for? Do we want him for himself alone or for all of us or just a few of us? Up to the present time immigration is free. Those who want immigrants want them to send to the mines because they are cheaper than our human beings, and do not want to organize labor unions because they can't. It was that sort of thing which killed my enthusiasm which I had for years, to Americanize the alien. Because it seems to me, it was a case of efficiency without paying for efficiency. To get the most out of human beings without paying for it or giving anything in return.

About one-third of our population are foreign born or immediate descendants from foreign born. In Cleveland about seventy-five per cent are foreign born or immediate descendants. In New York about 78 per cent, and in Boston about the same. In all the

NEWTON TEAMS LEAD

In Campaign for $150,000 for Frances E. Willard Settlement

Newton has been very well represented in the campaign being waged by the Frances E. Willard Settlement to raise a fund of $150,000 this week, six of the thirty teams being wholly or in part Newton women. Mrs. Frederic L. Day has three times had the pennant for the largest amount subscribed for the day and once has had the pennant for the largest number of subscriptions reported.

The following amounts were reported for the Newton teams up to Wednesday: No. 6, Mrs. F. L. Day, $6218.00; No. 8, Mrs. J. Parker Fiske, $995.50; No. 14, Mrs. Swan Hartwell, $1724.00; No. 21, Mrs. John D. Roquemore, $1777.50; No. 24, Miss Margaret Stellwagen, $136.00; No. 31, Mrs. L. W. Arnold, $233.00. Mrs. Day's team so far leads all the teams.

The total amount raised by the Newton team, this morning is $12,322.

Mrs. Frederic S. Blodgett, who is the chairman of the teams committee and Mrs. Henry B. Day, chairman of the Lists and Estimates committee, have been indefatigable in their efforts to help this very worthy philanthropy. It is hoped that the workers will be able to call upon all who are on the list, but they ask that anyone who may not have been asked to contribute will not hesitate to send in a gift to any of the teams or to Charles E. Rogerson, 100 Franklin street, Boston, treasurer of the fund, as supplementary contributions will be gladly received.

FATAL ACCIDENT

John Brocklesby, who, since Dec. 14, has been suffering from a fractured skull, died last week Friday morning, leaving a wife and nine children. Their home is in Murray place, West Newton. Brocklesby, who was forty years old, was the victim of an automobile accident in Oak square, Brighton. He was struck by a machine while crossing the street on a rainy night and was abandoned by the driver of the car.

Funeral services were held at St. Bernard's Church on Monday morning.

The requiem high mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. William Farrell, and the bearers were Michael O'Connell, Daniel Murphy, Thomas Harney, Patrick Keefe, Michael Fitzsimmons and Michael McCue. The interment followed in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

INSTALLATION

Interesting Event at Gen. Hull Lodge, A. O. U. W.

The officers-elect of General Hull Lodge, No. 123, Ancient Order of United Workmen of Massachusetts were publicly installed at Dennison Hall, Newtonville on Friday evening, January 12th, in the presence of a large gathering of members and friends.

The hall was very tastefully decorated with potted plants and flowers, which with colored lights, added much to its attractiveness.

The installing officer was District Deputy Grand Master Workman Andrew T. Carlin, whose suite embraced the following brothers: James J. Reedy, Past Grand Master Workman, Charles C. Fearing, Grand Recorder, Ernest Blaser of the Grand Finance Committee, Senator Martin Hayes, Harry Wyman of Waltham Lodge, Grand Guide, F. Connors and J. Cooney of Garden City Lodge.

The ceremonies were performed under the new ritual and in a most impressive manner, particularly so in connection with the introduction by Deputy Carlin of each member of his suite, to the retiring Master Workman, John J. Fog, all of which held the closest attention of the large audience.

The lodge was honored by the presence of Brother Fred A. Maxfield, Grand Master Workman, who later made an address, expressing the high opinion in which General Hull Lodge is held by the Grand Lodge and congratulating its members upon the splendid record it has made during the past year and upon its growth, activity and personnel. Other addresses were made by Brothers Charles C. Fearing, Grand Recorder, James J. Reedy, P. M. G. W. Hon. Martin Hayes, following which an entertainment was given by Knight's Orchestra, Songs by Miss Ruth Boyd and readings by Miss Myrtle Weldon.

After refreshments had been served, dancing was enjoyed till midnight.

General Hull Lodge starts the New Year under the most favorable auspices with every indication of rapid growth and with the following officers: Master Workman, Alexander G. Nicolson; Past Master Workman, John J. Fog; Foreman, Clarence F. Cormier; Overseer, James A. Butler; Recorder, John L. Sibley; Treasurer, Edwin H. Cram; Financier, William E. Brown; Guide, James Ridgeway; Outside Watchman, Edwin F. Brown; Outside Watchman, Henry K. Buck; Trustee, Joseph L. Atwood.

NEWTON VOCATIONAL HIGH SCHOOL

WANT SATURDAY HALF HOLIDAY

City Laborers Given Lengthy Hearing by Board of Aldermen

The aldermen gave a lengthy hearing Monday evening on the petition of over 600 citizens that a Saturday half holiday throughout the year be granted the city laborers. The gallery was filled with members of the Newton City Employees Union and their case was ably presented by Mr. A. Leslie Moriarty, the secretary, Mr. Michael F. O'Brien, the national president of the Union, Mr. Peter McCarthy, the president of the local union, Mr. James S. Cannon, Mr. Michael J. Moore, Mr. Daniel O'Connell and Mr. William F. Cannon, while Mr. Summer Clement expressed quite a sensation by appearing in opposition.

Mr. O'Brien had some trouble with his throat and it was difficult to understand all he said, the most striking sentence however was to the effect that Newton was one of the wealthiest cities in the country and the board ought to pass some of its wealth over to the men who worked on the highways and by-ways.

Mr. Cannon spoke eloquently and well and gave his personal experience while working for the city in his younger days. He said that Newton had been slow to adopt progressive ideas, and the attitude of the aldermen had always been most conservative in matters affecting city labor. As business men the board had recognized the fact that it was desirable for all classes of workers, except laborers and mechanics, to have an opportunity during the week for recreation. Mr. Cannon argued that a contented employee means better work and to get a contented employee they should have an adequate wage and liberal holidays. Mr. Cannon thought that the city tried to get as much work as possible from its laborers and viewed every increase in wages or question of half holidays with suspicion, while at the same time the aldermen gave serious consideration to increasing salaries of department heads. No bonuses, he declared are paid to these men, who have proved by their brawn and sinew that they are worthy of your consideration. In conclusion he urged the aldermen to remember their days on the farm or in the factory and give these men a chance for recreation.

Mr. Moore thought that the vote he received last December for alderman gave him a right to speak for his constituents and urged the board to give them clear way to the station in the morning, what they ask.

While he declared it was not a matter of charity, but of justice, he also hinted at a coalition of certain cities to demand compulsory legislation on these lines.

Mr. Daniel O'Connell said that City

Hall had a half holiday throughout the year and thought others ought to be treated the same. He hoped that the board would take action, without waiting for legislation.

Mr. McCarthy stated that city laborers as a body could not be duplicated anywhere and he asked that the board make them happy by giving them a fair wage, steady employment and a Saturday half holiday.

Mr. Clement expressed his good will towards the city laborers but suggested that it was really an additional appropriation that was asked. In his own business he had found that an extra holiday had meant any speeding up of work and to grant this petition would mean that the city would have to hire additional men, as a certain amount of routine work must be done in any event. Mr. Clement suggested that this holiday would cost over $20,000, and while he would not enter a protest against wages of $5. a day, he did oppose this proposition as it was not a necessity, and reminded the board that when you cut down your producing hours you must increase your overhead expense.

—o—

From the story printed in our news columns today regarding what has been accomplished in this city to prevent fires in our public schools, we believe that every parent should feel that in following the recommendations of the Fire Hazard Commission, rather than the theoretical opinions of men holding the comparatively minor position of building inspectors of the district police, the city authorities have acted wisely and well. With the establishment of the office of supervisor of school buildings with ample authority to compel janitors and masters to observe the careful directions of the Commission as to the proper use of the school buildings, we can rest assured that everything possible has been done to safe-guard the lives of our children.

—o—

Ex-Alderman Sumner Clement showed the stuff of which he is made when he took his political future in his hands and was the sole opponent Monday night to the petition of the Newton City Employees' Union for a Saturday half holiday throughout the year for city laborers. It takes moral courage of a high order and a strong sense of civic duty to take a stand like that of Mr. Clement and, regardless of one's personal views on the subject, he deserves the thanks of the community for establishing a splendid precedent for the thoughtful citizens of Newton to follow.

—o—

Mayor Childs has made an admirable appointment in securing the services of Mr. George B. H. Macomber as a member of the board of appeal of the city. Mr. Macomber has the experience as well as the ability to maintain the high standard set by his predecessor, Alderman Whidden.

—o—

The work of the board of health on the extermination of rats from our city dumping places will be followed with interest by many who are not affected by the presence of rodents in their own neighborhood. It is certainly a new field for "health" work.

—o—

Newtonville parents will have to get busy the next few days if they want automatic control of the heating apparatus in the Clafin school. Some one has blundered in this matter or it would never have appeared a second time before the city government.

—o—

The school committee has made an admirable choice in electing Mr. Albert M. Lyon as its chairman, and he will be a worthy successor of such able men as Mr. William H. Rice, Hon. Henry E. Bothfield, and Mr. Robert S. Gorham, who have held that office in the past.

DEATH OF MR. E. E. BURDON

Mr. E. Everett Burdon, a resident of this city for over fifty years, died at his home on Charlesbank road, on Wednesday after a long period of failing health, altho he has been able to attend to business until a comparatively recent date. Mr. Burdon was born in Mendon, Mass., and was 73 years of age. He was engaged in the insurance business in Boston. Mr. Burdon was, for many years, a resident of West Newton, where he took an active part in the social and political affairs of the city. A fine musician, he served the Lincoln Park Baptist Church, as an organist and was greatly interested in its work. He is survived by a widow, two sons, Mr. Edward O. Burdon of Seattle, Wash., and Mr. Harold Burdon of Detroit, Mich., and one daughter, Miss Marion Burdon of Newton.

Funeral services will be held from his late home on Charlesbank road, Newton, tomorrow afternoon at 2:15 o'clock.

"GOOD FELLOWS" OF HISTORY

They Are of Both Sexes and Have Saved World From Being an Utter Failure, Says Writer.

Good fellows are not limited to one sex. Not by any means. This would be a sorry world if they were. In fact, they may be found anywhere, and everywhere, for wherever you hear a cheerful, heartsome song there you will find a good fellow, as surely as there is a partridge in "bob white" is.

The good fellows have saved the world from proving an utter failure, and whatever there is that is worth having is due to their good offices, and whatsoever of greatness this old world may achieve in ages to come it will owe to the good fellows who belong to the ages.

Your really good fellow is not a goody-goody chap, too pretty to mingle with the throng, and to fine for everyday use. Not he. Being neither sugar nor salt, he will stand a deal of rain and storm, and with courage strong he is ever ready for any fray in which the right is assailed. To him death is a secondary matter when to live would be to play the coward.

"Be of good comfort, Master Ridley," Latimer cried as the flames crackled around him. "Play the man! We shall this day light such a candle, by God's grace, in England as, I trust, shall never be put out!"—Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.

STORY TELLING AS AN ART

London Woman Revives Customs of Ancient Days When Tales Were Told for Dramatic Interest.

Story telling as it was in ancient days when history and knightly adventure, touched with the supernatural, were the inspiration of bards and minstrels, and when tales were told chiefly for their dramatic interest, is the art of Miss Marie L. Sheldon of London.

"Stories should be told to children and grown-ups alike for the dramatic interest of them, just as they were told 2,000 years ago and are still told on the street corners," says Miss Sheldon. "The beauty and dramatic interest of the story itself should be set forth simply, not with eloquence or imposing theatrics. Pointing obvious morals to children is of little avail in teaching them. What impresses them most is telling them stories of heroes or figures they may admire and allowing them to make the comparison between themselves and the characters—then will they really be taught the best sort of actions."

Emblem That Is Historic.

Of historical interest is the emblem found on every prescription written by a physician, consisting of the letter R with a thin line across the tail at an acute angle. According to historians it had its origin in the ancient custom of allowing the stars to dominate everyday incidents of life. The R thus marked is said to have been the emblem used by the ancients to designate the supremacy of the planet Jupiter. Therefore it seems probable that some chemist of ancient days gave a prescription or a recipe to some patient and wrote upon it the emblem of the planet then in the ascendancy, which happened to be Jupiter. This emblem has come down to the present time and is always used. In a more modern sense it stands for a recipe, or an order or instruction to take something. Literally construed, it means "take" or "take thou."

Who the Grandmother Was.

I called the other day to see a wounded officer who is under treatment at a hospital in Hampshire. The hospital is a wing of a mansion built on a hilltop, and the approaches to it are slopes covered with chestnuts and beeches and pines. Standing at a window of one of the wards, I became interested in a happening in the drive below. "Anything doing there?" the officer asked. "Only a nurse pushing an invalid chair up the slope," I answered. "She seemed to find it heavy work, but an old lady is now helping her to push, and they are coming up nicely. The invalid's grandmother, perhaps?" The officer came to the window. "Grandmother?" he exclaimed softly. "That's not his grandmother. That's the dear lady who runs this show—the Empress Eugenie!"—Manchester Guardian.

Will Lessen Paper Shortage.

The scarcity of white paper material is causing the most rigid investigation into the use of spruce wood for purposes for which some other material might serve. The United States forest products laboratory at Madison, Wis., has lately been experimenting in using cottonwood as a substitute for spruce poplar and ash for making butter boxes. Cottonwood, when green, gives off an odor which, it was believed, would be absorbed by the butter. Tests have been made of boxes constructed of thoroughly seasoned cottonwood. Butter packed in them was set away for a week and at the end of that time professional butter graders decided that the butter contained no trace of foreign flavor. The use of cottonwood for food packing will release millions of pounds of wood for paper making each year.

A Frank Confession.

"What does your wife say to you when you've been out late?"

"Do you know?" replied Mr. Jibway, "I've been hearing that speech for seven or eight years and haven't memorized it yet?"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

The Queen Dethroned.

For three weeks he had borne all the horrors of the annual cleaning without a murmur. Then his patience gave way.

"And you," sobbed his wife, "you used to tell me I was your queen."

"Yes," he said, with a wild glare in his eyes; "but when a man finds his queen has used his best tobacco jar for pale oak varnish and his meerschaum pipe for a tack-hammer, he begins to grasp the advantages of a republic."

JAPAN HAS "LARGE GIVERS"

Far Eastern Empire Close Second to United States in Public Benefactions by Private Citizens.

While the United States easily holds the lead in "large giving" by private citizens for public beneficence, Japan, ever eager in the race for civic betterment, is showing great generosity among its wealth toward projects for the public good, says East and West. An endowment fund for a department of medicine for Keio university was sought last summer. It was originally planned to raise 1,000,000 yen and during September 700,000 yen was realized. Responses to the appeal continued in such a generous stream that by October 15 the sum had increased to 1,037,000 yen. The largest donors are the Mitsui family, with 100,000 yen and the Mirimura, Homelikai, Baron Iwasaki and Mr. Fujita with 50,000 yen each. Encouraged by the gifts to date, the university has decided to include the purchase price of the site in the fund and has raised the mark to 1,500,000 yen. The unexpected generosity of the donations marks a new stage in the development of Japan. The Keio subscription fund was preceded a short time ago by 2,000,000 yen donations by individuals in Osaka. One was a gift of 1,000,000 yen to the Osaka municipality to be expended for the general betterment of the city's inhabitants. Another donation of the same amount was made to the Osaka Medical college for a department of research.

Private Secretary of Capitalist Hit Upon a Way to Raise His Salary While Cutting It.

The capitalist knew that the new company was spending too much money; also he knew that in some way they had got to put a stop to it. So anxious was he to reduce expenses that he offered his private secretary $25 a month extra if he could find a way to cut down current expenses.

The young man overhauled his accounts, but he failed to find a single expense that could be judiciously cut down. Just as he was about to give up the promised increase in salary it occurred to him that he was already getting $80 a month. Brimming over with enthusiasm, he sought the capitalist.

"I have found a way," he said. "You can save $10 a month on me. I have taken that amount off my salary."

It took the capitalist just about a tenth of a second to see that the young man was still $15 a month ahead; but the bargain stood.—New York Globe.

Calls Handkerchief Dangerous.

Dr. S. F. Robbins of New York is engaged in a campaign of overthrowing the pocket handkerchief, which he says continues to be a dangerous source of infection long after a person has recovered from such diseases as infantile paralysis and even common colds." "The day will come," he says, "when the customary cotton rag is replaced by the cheap and clean Japanese paper napkin, which is burned after it has been used. Infants and children are helpless against the rubbing of strange handkerchiefs over their perspiring and grimy faces. The public roller towel of the past was innocuous as compared to the family pocket handkerchief. Bitter experience will drive home the lesson that neglected noses, mouths and throats, which are largely, if not exclusively, responsible for the ultimate crippling of the unfortunate victims of disease and ignorance."

No Escape.

"You cannot get away from it" declared old Festus Pester. "Every time I expressed my sentiments about present-day politics and the election, I tramped on somebody's sensitive toes. So I lately resolved that thereafter I would confine my criticism exclusively to the late Anneke Jans. I did not suppose there was a friend of that lamented gentleman (or was she a lady?) left on earth. But just as soon as they could get around to it, squads of them opened up on me in the Public Mind, and poured shot and shell, grape and canister into my quivering ranks from both sides and the back. No use in talking—in addition to death and taxes, the Public Mind is inevitable!"—Kansas City Star.

Uncle Sam's Printing Plant.

Some 32,000,000 pounds of paper and 65,000,000 pounds of ink are used annually by Uncle Sam's big printery, the government printing office, and the total expense of the office is something like $6,000,000 a year. Employees work eight hours a day, receive a compensation comparing favorably with union wages throughout the country and are allowed 30 days' vacation with pay each year. Some divisions of the office run night, forces all year and others only during the sessions of congress. Employees working at night receive a 20 per cent advance over day rates of pay.

The Queen Dethroned.

For three weeks he had borne all the horrors of the annual cleaning without a murmur. Then his patience gave way.

"And you," sobbed his wife, "you used to tell me I was your queen."

"Yes," he said, with a wild glare in his eyes; "but when a man finds his queen has used his best tobacco jar for pale oak varnish and his meerschaum pipe for a tack-hammer, he begins to grasp the advantages of a republic."

A Frank Confession.

"What does your wife say to you when you've been out late?"

"Do you know?" replied Mr. Jibway,

"I've been hearing that speech for seven or eight years and haven't memorized it yet?"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Learn to Read Advertising, You Men. Don't Expect More Than You Give

By J. R. HAMILTON
Former Advertising Manager of Wanamaker's, Philadelphia

If there is anyone worthy of divine pity it is the man who banks his fortune in advertising the name of a breakfast food, for example, and then steps into the first little nameless store he comes to, and buys a nameless pair of shoes or a nameless hat.

About half the men in America are interested, in one way or another, in advertising, and yet only a comparative handful of you have actually learned the benefit of reading and responding to it.

Recently one of the largest clothing manufacturers in the country stepped into a store and said, "Give me a suit of underwear."

"What kind?" said the clerk.

"Oh," said the manufacturer, "Any old kind will do." And he would have been shocked out of his three chins if anybody had said the same thing in buying clothes.

That man makes about the best clothes produced, and he cannot understand why more people do not buy his product.

Now it is time all men took into consideration the value of advertising and learned to respond to it.

No man can tell the exact value of merchandise outside of his own particular line. Do you suppose a jeweler knows anything about a suit of clothes, or a clothier has any absolute knowledge of jewelry? Either one of them could be skinned out of his eye teeth by the other, and probably would be if it weren't for advertising.

It is the name not the merchandise that a store or manufacturer sells. It is the name he stands back of.

And it is advertising the name that makes him stand back of it. The man who doesn't advertise hasn't anything to live up to. He hasn't made any claims that he has to live up to.

In the name of fairness give these advertisers their due. Such stores choose the best merchandise that there is to be had. They offer you the lowest possible price and they stand ready to back their integrity with the returnability of merchandise and money back.

Now turn to the advertisements in this paper for the things you are going to buy. Read every one of them, large and small. (A small advertiser may have just the thing you want.) Give your patronage to these people who have cleaned up our commercial system and have been the leaders in standardizing trade.

The KITCHEN CABINET

MILK AS A FOOD.

It is right that we should be reminded of the value of milk in the diet, to use it to replace more expensive foodstuffs and reduce the food bill. Skim milk has nearly all the food principles left in it with the exception of the fat. What is left has all of the value of whole milk for the tissue building and repair. The removal of the fat has reduced the fuel value of the milk one-half, but it is a cheap food and one which should be more generally used. For cream soups, rice puddings, bread puddings, scalloped dishes of various kinds, as a drink, and to be used in breads, it has a valuable place.

Popovers.—Beat two eggs thoroughly, add gradually seven-eighths of a cupful of milk, a cupful of flour, a half teaspoonful of salt; beat all together two minutes with an eggbeater, then add a half teaspoonful of melted butter. If skim milk is used, add a teaspoonful of melted butter.

Banana and Peanut Salad.—Slice bananas lengthwise, cover with finely ground peanuts and serve on lettuce leaves with mayonnaise.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

There is nothing like a Little Journey in the World to get a new point of view and to bring about a better understanding of conditions. The coming together of earnest women all fired with similar aims, whether it be a large convention like the Biennial of the General Federation or a smaller conference of those interested in a special line of work it matters not, any such gathering is productive of good along oftentimes unsuspected lines. It was the Club Editor's privilege to attend such a conference in Baltimore last week when women from New England, from Canada, from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, District of Columbia and Virginia met to learn what other women of the same church affiliations are doing in their respective communities. One earnest woman from Virginia said she had come to learn, but from every word which she uttered those who heard learned vastly more than they could have taught her. During the social hour after an informal dinner when it was to be supposed that lighter matters would engage the attention, even then the conversation turned upon the deeper things of life, which revealed the fact that women of Boston are not the only ones who are thinking today and that they must look to their laurels if they are to keep in the vanguard.

State Federation Announcements

Speakers, Miss Geraldine Gordon, head worker of Denison House, and Mrs. Mary Thompson, textile worker of Lowell. All interested are cordially invited. Train leaves North Station, Boston, at 1.30 P.M.

Thursday, Jan. 25, 10 A.M. and 2 P.M. State conference of the Public Health department, Chipman Hall, Boston. At the morning session Dr. John B. Hawes, 2nd, will speak on "Tuberculosis," and Dr. Milton J. Rosenau on "Infantile Paralysis." The afternoon session will be given up to a discussion of "Health Insurance," with Dr. Frederick J. Cotton, Prof. Henry C. Metcalf, Henry Abrams and Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale as speakers.

Local Announcements

Tomorrow afternoon the Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club will meet with Mrs. F. S. Keith of Hartford street.

On Monday afternoon Mrs. Louie A. Bacon of Waltham street will be the hostess for the Travel class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club.

Mrs. A. F. Hayward of Centre street will entertain the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. for its weekly meeting on Jan. 22.

The Christian Era Study Club meets with Miss Blanche Noyes, 16 Williston road, Auburndale, on Jan. 22nd.

On Tuesday morning the current events class of the Newtonville Woman's Guild will meet at 10.30.

The Newton Parliamentary Law Club meets in the Newton Library on Jan. 23, at 10.15.

Mrs. Estelle H. Hurl will lecture before the West Newton Women's Educational Club on Friday afternoon, her subject being, "Our Neighbors, the Birds."

On Wednesday morning Mrs. Irving O. Palmer will speak before the Social Science Club on "The Sea Islanders." Guests may be invited.

Dr. John B. May of Waban will lecture before the West Newton Women's Educational Club on Friday afternoon, his subject being, "Our Neighbors, the Birds."

Lodges

Crescent Commandery, United Order of the Golden Cross will hold its installation Thursday evening at Kingsbury Hall, 156 Moody street, Waltham.

It's a great serial, true to life and full of excitement and heart interest. More power to Metro for its progressiveness in staging such a production!

Local Happenings

Mrs. Emery Clark was hostess for this week's meeting of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. when the subject of "International Relations" was considered by Mrs. George Q. Hill. The Pan-American Union was spoken of, also the Hague Tribunal and the various educational exchanges were mentioned as means of bringing about a better understanding between countries. The same subject will be continued for two more weeks.

Monday, January fifteenth, the Waban Woman's Club listened to Miss Mabel C. Bragg talk on Story Telling in the Public Schools. Miss Bragg spoke of the importance of placing before the children literature which is suitable to their age and told a number of delightful stories in a very attractive way. Mrs. Scott of Beacon street was the hostess, and the program was followed by a dainty tea.

Tuesday afternoon the members of the Auburndale Woman's Club enjoyed a musical in charge of the Music committee, Mrs. Lyman W. Gore, chairman. The program was varied and of high order throughout and excellently rendered by the following artists: Miss Eleanor Brodie, piano; Miss Eva Farnum, Wessells, alto; Miss Rae, Kilmel, harp; Miss Florence Martha Colby, cello; Mrs. L. D. MacNutt and Mrs. Herman Noyes, being the accompanists. The committee is to be congratulated upon the delightful entertainment.

At the meeting of the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning, Mrs. F. R. Stubbs continued the study of Colonization with a paper on "England in India." Mrs. Stubbs began by giving her audience a brief view of India as she had always pictured it in her mind and then pointed out some of the changes her research has obliged her to make, one of them being the idea of the size of the country. She then turned to a history of the successive efforts at colonization by the Portuguese, Dutch, French and English and the struggles of each for supremacy. The work of England since the Sepoy rebellion in 1857 in developing the country was dwelt upon at length, as well as the loyalty to England of the natives of India in the present world crisis. The paper was given in a bright and attractive way that held the attention of the audience for over an hour.

The class in Current Literature led by Mrs. William Fuller has resumed its Friday afternoon meetings at the hospitable home of Miss Ella M. Robinson on Williston road. The ladies sew or knit while Mrs. Fuller reads and the discussion which follows is made more social by a cup of tea. It is an afternoon to anticipate and to remember.

At the Newton Centre Woman's Club, yesterday, Dr. Clinton L. Babcock lectured on "Russia and the Slavic Problem." The lecture was illustrated by stereopticon pictures and was very interesting, much of the material being drawn from Dr. Babcock's personal experiences in Russia. Mrs. E. M. Noyes introduced the speaker, who is a fellow townsman.

On next Thursday, January 25th, at 2.30 P.M., the Club will celebrate its thirtieth anniversary, and will have a birthday party and be entertained by its own members. This meeting is open to guests of club members on payment of twenty-five cents each.

Remember "Fif" of the Toy Shop", Tuesday Matinee on January 30 and evening performance followed by dancing on January 31.

Newton Federation

The quarterly board meeting of the Federation was held on Monday morning with the president, Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, in the chair. Three organizations were received into associate membership, made possible through the amendment to the constitution adopted at the meeting of the Federation in November. They were: The Welfare Bureau, the Hospital Aid Association, the District Nursing Association. One new club was admitted into active membership, the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. Notice was given of a conference of the clubs belonging to the Sixth District, over which Mrs. Palmer is the director, to be held in Winchester, on February 2nd. The committee appointed to look into bringing "The Mirror of Newton" up to date recommended that the matter be dropped for the present, as there seemed not to be sufficient response on the part of the clubs to warrant the undertaking. It was voted to affiliate with the Massachusetts Child Labor committee, to donate $5 to the Anne Hutchinson Statue Fund, that the Federation assume the charge of a table at the State Federation Bazaar to be held next November, and to make a voluntary gift to the State Federation of $25.

The chairman of the Social Service committee reported that the expense of the Dental Clinic has been assumed by the City, while the Federation will retain control. Further publicity for the Welfare Bureau is being secured by members of this committee. It was recommended that the Federation adopt the policy of holding some annual feature for raising money for its work and a committee to look into the matter was ordered. The Education committee reported the formation of the class in Civics under the direction of the University Extension of the State. Twenty-four members have been enrolled and are finding the lessons most profitable. The committee has been investigating conditions in the local moving picture houses. The name of the chairman was added to a committee representing different agencies in Newton interested in improving conditions.

Mrs. Estelle H. Hurl will lecture before the West Newton Women's Educational Club on "Madonnas" in the Episcopal parish house on Tuesday, Jan. 23rd, at 2.30. The lecture will be illustrated with stereopticon slides.

On Wednesday morning Mrs. Irving O. Palmer will speak before the Social Science Club on "The Sea Islanders." Guests may be invited.

Dr. John B. May of Waban will lecture before the West Newton Women's Educational Club on Friday afternoon, his subject being, "Our Neighbors, the Birds."

Child-Welfare Circle

Members of the Child-Welfare Circle of the National Congress of Mothers of Newton and Brighton will meet in the lecture room of Newton Public Library Thursday afternoon, January 25th, at 3 o'clock to form a permanent organization, elect officers and outline plan of work. Mrs. Milton P. Higgins, State President of the National Congress of Mothers will be present and organize the circle, and link it up with the State and National bodies of the Mothers' Congress.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

Members of the Club and their friends enjoyed the splendid program given last Sunday afternoon at the musical held in the Assembly hall. The artists were Mrs. Kenneth B. Hastings of Newtonville and Messrs. Guy Maier and Lee Pattison. Mrs. Baker, the soprano, was on the program but failed to appear and Mrs. Hastings, who was in the audience, kindly consented to take part. She rendered several selections on the violin and was received with well deserved enthusiasm and applause.

Court Crystal Lake Lodge, No. 236, held their semi-monthly meeting at Forster's Hall.

A supper was given Thursday night, by the Ladies Society of the Methodist Church.

Miss Lillian Crowley of High street is improving rapidly from a broken shoulder blade.

A special Grand Entertainment, held under the auspices of "The Pierian Club," is to be given at the Auditorium Theatre, Thursday, Jan. 25. A famous comedy drama presenting Charles Richman in "The Man from Home," also Dorothy Samson, the champion juvenile dancer and piper, will be the features for the night.

After the formal program, tea was served in the dining room, Mesdames Frank F. Lamson, Ralph C. Hall, Everett T. Ryder and Sterling L. Loveland, being the pourers.

The bowling team is tied for the championship of the Newton League with the North Gate Club of West Newton, each having won 25 and lost 17 strings. Hunnewell defeated B. A. A. Wednesday night, 2 out of 3, and North Gate did the same last night with Newton, so that the status of last week was unchanged. The tie will be rolled off next Monday on the Newton Club alleys.

HOW THE WAR AFFECTS ENGLAND

Mr. S. K. Ratcliffe, Speaker at the Newton South Community Forum

The weekly meeting of the Newton South Community Forum was held Sunday afternoon at Lincoln Hall, Newton Highlands, and Mr. S. K. Ratcliffe of London gave an interesting talk on conditions in England during the war and what was to be expected after the war. He said in part:—

There can, I imagine, be no question more figurative in the minds of all of us, where you are citizens of a neutral country than the position of the English people and upon the outlook for the democratic idea and democratic institutions. We were one country in Europe which had kept peace in spite of the wars in the eighteenth century. We were the one country that had kept free from universal military service. In 1914 we found ourselves in the war. One thing in the minds of all the people was, would it be possible for the nation to take this task and go through without making great changes both socially and politically.

In the early stages of the war, we came to an understanding of the crisis very slowly and the fact that we were not prepared for the changes and were moving very slowly indeed, was the impression of every American who was in England at that time. I spoke to a number of them and hardly a single one could understand things. They would all say, your people do not seem to understand what they are up against. Everything goes on just the same as in the days before war was declared. I think that idea was due to the fact that most of these people had come into England from Germany and France. They had seen these two countries organized for the great struggle and going into it altogether with different sense than ours at that particular time. The German people were united in socialism, patriotism and nationalism spirit expressed by their leading men as the attitude of the people. The whole world had the feeling that, never before had any people gone into a national struggle as in mind and with the sense of the task that lay in front of them as they did. Those that had been in France saw that all the people had grown up in the fear that some such event as this might come, and now it had come. It called for sacrifice on the part of the young men especially, and everything was prepared. When these people came to England and everything seemed to be moving slowly they could not understand it. They did not realize that War would mean a pouring into it strength and money. We had money and material and man power as well as seapower which very few seemed to realize, but we impressed the world that we didn't realize the task. Due to conditions for the last two years or thirty months we have changed our whole national organization, socially and politically, so completely that anyone today that has not been in England since the war could not understand what has happened. It has been a transformation which has been so rapid and so thorough that we cannot adjust our minds upon it. We have changed our system which was almost exactly like the United States into a system which is hardly distinguishable. It is true that there were no two nations more alike than America and England both politically and socially. We, like you were proud of that liberty of individual freedom, we were proud of the traditions which we held, that the adult citizen was in a position to live his own life as he pleased. As in the case of the American it was possible for the citizen to go through life without having to come under state authority. We looked with pity on nations of another kind who lived under the authority of the state, who ordered their lives for them and decided what they might do and what they might not do. Now in that respect we were like yourselves in times of peace in spite of the fact that during the past twenty or thirty years we have changed somewhat, industries and other things are coming more and more under the state authority. We were still in the times of a nation which was proud of liberty and industrial freedom and rejoiced in the fact that our citizens were not obliged to live in constant fear of the State power.

A great number of English people held to the hope right to the end that they would be able to provide an army without interfering or abandoning our system. We had six million men enrolled in the army and that many more in training, of course that is only one end of the war, the other was the organization of our social life. National Services had to be taken over and placed to the service of the State for a short time, probably for the period of the War. The railroads, as a matter of fact were brought under National Control in the early days of the War. Just before the new Government went into office an announcement was made that the South Wales coal fields, which supplies the navy, would be taken over by the Government. So in this way one great industry after another is brought within the control of the Government. You all know what happened in regard to making of ammunition for the battle field. The Government took over the whole industry, and that was one of the first steps in the great industry transformation of England. One of the great things which has been carried on is the work of the Y. M. C. A. in the ammunition plants especially, and I was sent to one of these places and also to where the great ammunition plants have grown up within a few weeks.

EDITORIAL

From our experience this week with a broken pumping engine, it is very evident that the city has not begun work too soon on the enlargement of the covered reservoir on Waban hill, now in progress. Our present storage would be only sufficient to supply the needs of the city for one hot day in summer and doubling that capacity will give us supply enough to cover ordinary accidents in the future.

The death of Father Gilfether who was the curate at the Church of Our Lady for so many years, will be sincerely mourned by his many friends in this city. A man of broad sympathies, genial nature and keen understanding of life, he was greatly beloved by a wide circle of acquaintances and friends.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

A subject of unusual interest will be presented by Mr. Robert D. Hall, Secretary of the International Committee for Indian work, at the Y. M. C. A. next Monday evening. Mr. Hall will show stereopticon slides to illustrate his talk. The public is invited. Mr. Hall begins to speak soon after 7 o'clock. Supper will be served at 6:30 for any who would like to come direct from business.

A very successful house tournament closed Tuesday evening at the Newton Association. A tie for first place made the contest very interesting. The standing is below. Team No. 4, consisting of R. A. Kane, R. Richmond, C. A. Wheeler, H. Smith, C. L. Libby, won first place. Team No. 5, consisting of E. E. Grant, S. T. Emery, A. Osterlin, Wm. H. Haynes, W. S. Butler, won second place. The high average was won by L. Bills, 95. The high three string was won by L. Bills, 321. The high single string was won by R. B. Plummer, 132.

Mr. John H. Geldorf, Newton's representative in China since 1910, is back in this country on a furlough and before long will meet his many friends at some gathering at the Newton Association.

A swimming meet with the Beverly Association is scheduled for Wednesday evening, Feb. 7th. Newton has a strong team this year and those who enjoy watching fancy diving and good swimming will do well to save this date.

The Social Committee, D. W. Anders, Chairman, are planning for an open house on Feb. 8th. A program more in detail will be announced later but the committee have arranged for music by the Boys' Orchestra, entertainment by Mr. Pitt F. Parker, an athletic meet in the gymnasium, and are trying to make arrangements for moving pictures. The public is cordially invited on that evening to inspect the building and enjoy the entertainment provided.

At Malden last Friday night, the Newton swimming team easily led in a swimming contest with Malden and Salem, the score being Newton 35, Salem 14, Malden 4.

CELEBRATES 30TH ANNIVERSARY

Changes wrought in thirty years since the founding of the Newton Centre Woman's Club were emphasized in the celebration of its thirtieth birthday at Bray Hall yesterday afternoon. Mrs. S. Hardy Mitchell, the president, extended a gracious welcome to the many members and guests present. Mr. Irving O. Palmer brought greetings from the Newton Federation, presenting a birthday offering of pride, confidence and deep affection from the mother of the family. Orchestral music by violin, cello and piano, two of the musicians being club members, added much to the pleasure of the occasion.

His Honor, Mayor Childs, spoke of "The Influence of women's clubs on the Civic Life of the Community," enumerating several ways in which the clubs may have influence, by instilling the spirit of patriotism into the youth of today; by the indirect method, "until you have the ballot" by having a part in the welfare work, by seeing that we have a clean city, both physically and morally. Of specific ways Mayor Childs suggested the great service already rendered the schools, the need of assisting boys' clubs and girls' clubs, the censorship of moving pictures, work for temperance, and the great need of work among the immigrants.

After a violin solo by Mrs. Allen Hubbard, the rest of the program was in charge of Mrs. Samuel Ward, who presented the organ of the Newton Centre Woman's Club, the Club Magazine. The illustrated cover shows ed grouped in a frame three of the four charter members, who have remained in the club throughout the whole thirty years. Mrs. E. F. Melcher, Mrs. John Sanborn and Mrs. A. L. Harwood, the fourth being Mrs. D. B. Claffin. The Prelude was an amusing sketch read by Mrs. Ward, entitled, "The View Point of Non-Club Members." Then came seven illustrated advertisements taken as follows: Uneeda Biscuit, Ellis Speare; Old Dutch Cleanser, Frieda Clarke; Cream of Wheat, Hassler Capron, Charles Dearing, Mary Carol Marshall; Beechnut Peanut Butter, Bobbie Smith; Dandeneur, Harriet Sweeney; Baker's Cocoa, Esther Pratt.

The Editorial also read by Mrs. Ward described Newton Centre thirty years ago and contrasted it with that of today. The Club History was presented by Mrs. Bertram E. Taylor, tracing the growth of the club from the 26 women, who had served from Newton Centre on the fair for the Charles Ward Post, G. A. R., to the 500 women today, and a waiting list. Among the civic interests of the club were mentioned the playground, vacation school, work among the Italians and numerous lesser ones. The money given to philanthropic objects totals $13,277.25, from the scholarship fund one girl has been assisted through college during four years, while the effort for the club house has brought in $11,000. The large number of young women among the membership was referred to and the whole life of the club was characterized by a spirit of loyalty, good fellowship and sincere co-operation. A poem by Mrs. A. L. Harwood, the story, "A Bit of Local Color," and extracts from the Contributor's Club completed the literary part of the Magazine. The closing number was a tableau representing an executive board meeting of the club thirty years hence when plans are being made for the celebration of the sixth anniversary. The costumes worn were remarkable in the extreme and intended to be prophetic of those of the club women of the future. Those taking part in this tableau were daughters of the present members of the board. A reception and social hour with refreshments concluded a novel and unusually attractive manner of presenting a club's story. The committee in charge of the program included Mrs. Samuel Ward, chairman, Mrs. H. P. Bradford, Mrs. B. E. Taylor, Mrs. A. L. Harwood. The tableaux were arranged by Miss Dorothy Taylor, chairman, Mrs. Fred Clarke, Mrs. Frederick Rising, Miss Esther Pratt and Miss Helen Chapin.

Hobson (in "The industrial system"). HE-H65 Old age pensions, by Frank W. Lewis (in "State insurance"). IIS-L58 Social insurance, by H. R. Seager (in "Principles at economics"). HC-S43 Pensions for veterans of work (in New Zealand) by H. D. Lloyd (in "Newest England"). G23-L77 The problem of sick and accident insurance in Switzerland, by O. H. Jenny (in Yale Review, vol. 19, page 235). Standards of sickness insurance, by I. M. Rubinow (in Journal of political economy, v. 23, p. 221). Old age pension schemes; a criticism and a program, by F. Spencer Baldwin (in Quarterly journal of economics, v. 24, p. 713). Retirement systems for municipal employee, by F. Spencer Baldwin (in Annals of the American Academy, v. 38, p. 6). Our new pension, discretionary pensions, by Louis D. Brandeis (in Independent, v. 73, p. 187). Insurance legislation, the larger view, by W. H. Dawson (in Fortnightly, v. 95, p. 534). Workingmen's insurance and old age pensions (in Conference of Charities, 1905, p. 445). For the sake of ratepayers and old age pensions, by Edith Sellers (in Contemporary rev., v. 104, p. 528). The protection of the strong, a discussion of the working of insurance plans (in Scientific Amer. Sup., v. 79, p. 342). Health insurance, the spread of the movement, by L. M. Rubinow (in Survey, July 15, 1916). Canadian government annuities, a study of their relation to the problem of poverty in old age, by Francis A. Carman (in Political science quarterly, Sept., 1915). Biggest present human-welfare job (in Everybody's, v. 34, p. 531). The basis of a sickness insurance bill (in Survey, v. 33, p. 485). The exhibition in the entrance hall of the Newton Free library consists of plates of birds from Mr. Charles J. Maynard's "American Ornithology." It may not be known by all that the plates in Mr. Maynard's books, except two volumes, are hand colored. The coloring process is in no wise guesswork, for in selecting the pigments several stuffed bodies of each particular bird are immediately at hand.

This exhibition is one of several of Newton's talent.—Mr. Maynard being a resident of West Newton. The pictures will be shown until February 3.

sent a candidate from one district from going into another district, or elsewhere, for the votes, but simply assists in a more even distribution of the prizes offered. Each candidate has the same opportunity of winning the capital prize regardless of location of entrance.

Any person desirous of entering from any section not mentioned in the arrangement of the districts will be entered in the one nearest to the point of entrance.

Office Open Thursday Nights

The office of the Newton Graphic will be open each Thursday evening during the life of the contest for the reception of the candidates and their friends and on any other night by appointment. Telephone Newton North 18. Reports of subscriptions can be made any day in the week but must be made each Thursday in order for the announcement of the standing to be given. The votes will be counted each Thursday night and those accepted for publication will appear in the issue of the Newton Graphic of the same week.

THE DISTRICTS

Section One

Newton, Nonantum, Newtonville, West Newton, Auburndale and Newton Lower Falls

Section Two

Newton Centre, Newton Highlands, Upper Falls, Waban, Chestnut Hill and Thompsonville

Vote Values

A liberal number of votes will be issued on all payments made on subscription to the Newton Graphic whether it be a new or an old subscriber according to the table of votes.

6 Months	$1.00	1000
12 Months	2.00	3000
24 Months	4.00	6000
36 Months	6.00	12000

The above table of votes is for new subscriptions and on renewal subscriptions the vote value is just one-half of this vote schedule.

A new subscriber is any person who at the time that this contest was started did not receive any pay for the paper for which he may now subscribe.

District Plan of Awards

While it is impossible at this time to announce the definite plan of awarding the offerings which will be given in the contest, it can be accepted as a fact that the prizes which will go to make up the rest of the awards will be something that will interest the average person. A valuable prize, or two, for each district. The person securing the greatest number of votes in either of the districts will be given the FORD TOURING CAR. Then there will be district prizes, the nature of which will be divulged next week. And on top of all this there will be some special prize inducements as well as a cash commission on all subscription money turned in by candidates who do not win prizes.

The names of those who have been nominated for this event will be given in the Newton Graphic on Friday, Feb. 2nd.

JUNIOR LEAGUE MEETING

The Junior League for the Newton Hospital Social Service, which separated from the Hospital Aid Association last summer, held its second meeting of the year Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, in the New Church parlor.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Miss Dorothy Taylor. After routine business, there was a short, but most interesting talk by the social worker, Miss Sophia L. Smith of Newton, which was followed by an entertainment and tea.

The program included piano solos beautifully rendered by Miss Constance McGlinchey. A group of songs by the well known contralto, Miss Marie Sladen, assisted by Mrs. Atwood; readings, by Miss Lois Perkins of New York, which were greatly enjoyed, especially, Barrie's "Twelve Pound Look."

CITY HALL

A special meeting of the aldermen was held Monday evening to draw two jurors for Superior Court service, the names of William P. Blodget of Chestnut Hill and of Charles E. Rees of Newton were drawn by Alderman Goodwin.

POLITICAL NOTES

Hon. Robert Luce of Waltham, former Lieutenant governor of the state, will be a candidate for delegate to the constitutional convention from this Congressional district.

FIRST INVITATION CONCERT OF THE HIGHLAND GLEE CLUB

The Mid-winter concert—ninth season—of the Highland Glee Club, will be held in Bray Hall, Newton Centre on the evening of Tuesday, Jan. 24, the thirtieth, beginning at 8.15.

This is the first of the Club's concerts to be held since the inauguration of its new policy, and promises to be one of the chief social events of the season in Newton. Admission will be by invitation only, and since the newly organized Associate Membership is already fully subscribed, a large attendance of music lovers is assured.

Musically, the event bids fair to be one of the best ever held in the Newtons, and it is anticipated that the work of the club will far surpass anything which it has done in past seasons.

Mrs. Grace Bonner Williams, one of Boston's leading soloists, will assist, as will Mr. John Hermann Loud, organist. Mr. Almon J. Fairbanks will direct. No pains or expense have been spared to assure the success of this event.

ANNUAL MEETING

The Annual Meeting of the Newton Cemetery Corporation will be held in the Administration building at the Cemetery on Wednesday, February 7, 1917, at four o'clock P. M., for the election of Trustees for the ensuing year, to hear reports of Officers and Trustees, and to transact any other business that may legally come before the meeting. Lot owners are earnestly requested to be present.

MR. DICKERMAN DEAD

Mr. Benjamin Dickerman, a resident of Newton Highlands for over 25 years, died last Saturday at his home on Lincoln street at the age of 91. Mr. Dickerman was born in Randolph, Mass., August 23, 1825. He settled in Newton Highlands about 1890, and was largely instrumental in the present large development of Elliot. He gave the railroad company the land for the present Elliot railroad station and has been a large factor in the growth of that part of the city. He was a member of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church.

Mr. Dickerman is survived by a son, Mr. George W. Dickerman of New York, one daughter, Mrs. Alice Dickerman Jones of this city. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at his late residence, Rev. George G. Phipps officiating and the interment was at Randolph, Mass.

DEATH OF MR. CURTIS

Mr. John Calvin Curtis, a resident of Newton for six years from 1899 to 1905, died last week Wednesday at his home in Bridgeport, Conn., in his 72d year. Mr. Curtis was born in Bridgeport and had a splendid record of service in the Civil War. After the war he entered the employ of the Adams Express Co. in his native city and subsequently became the New England manager of this company, during a part of which time he made his residence here. He retired in 1908 and made his home at Bridgeport. He is survived by a widow and seven children, Mrs. Gladys C. Berrien of Bronxville, the Misses Vera C. and Sarah G. Curtis, and Messrs. Victor S. Henry S., John K. and Elliot R. Curtis.

During his residence in Newton, Mr. Curtis was a member of Elliot Church and the Hunnewell Club and took an active interest in social affairs.

OFFICE BOY MISSING

Lloyd E. Hemenway of Waltham, 19 years of age, who has been employed as an office boy by the Newton Trust Company since last fall, has disappeared and there is a shortage of about $2000 in the funds of the bank. The young man has been missing since January 17, and a detective agency has been asked to locate him. It is said that he must have secured the key to one of the cash boxes of the Trust Company and taken the money which is in bills of small denominations, at some favorable opportunity. He is bonded by a Boston company and the bank will not suffer the loss.

It is said that Hemenway has been away from home before.

SERIOUS SITUATION

Accident to Pumping Engine Endangers
 Water Supply for 48 Hours

Newton faced a serious situation last Sunday and Monday so far as its water supply was concerned, as the pumping engine at the plant at Newton Upper Falls broke a piston rod late Saturday afternoon. The department has two pumping engines but the newer pump has been out of commission for the past three weeks in order that repairs might be made. The supply has been dependent thereon on the older machine, and when that broke it was impossible to force the water to the covered reservoir at Waban hill and into the street mains. Fortunately there was enough water stored at Waban hill to care for ordinary needs during Sunday and by strenuous efforts by department employees and outside mechanics, pumping was resumed about 10 o'clock Sunday night. In the meantime, Water Commissioner Whitney had made all necessary arrangements with the Metropolitan Water department to supply the city with water, if necessary, from the old city reservoir on Ward street.

This reservoir, however, does not furnish pressure enough to supply residences on the highest parts of the city and consequently, was only as a last resort.

The repaired piston rod, however, gave way again early Monday morning and Commissioner Whitney had the Metropolitan water turned into the city mains a little later, and during Monday, the greater part of the city used Metropolitan water, Chestnut hill drawing its supply from the covered reservoir.

The repairs were completed Monday night and the danger from a water famine has been removed.

DEATH OF MRS. DREW

Mrs. Harriette W. Drew, the wife of Mr. Charles A. Drew, who had been in failing health for about three years, died on Sunday at her home, 18 Baldwin street. She was born in Billerica on February 20, 1845, and was descended from Joseph Jaquith, a pioneer of that town and a soldier of the Revolution. In her girlhood she was much influenced by the stirring scenes of the Civil War and was among those who visited the camps and worked in behalf of the soldiers about to leave for the South. Three years later she married William E. Clark, who served in the war and died soon afterward. In 1875 she married Mr. Drew and had since lived in Newton, where she had been an active member of Channing Church. Mrs. Drew is survived by her husband, by their widowed daughter, Mrs. Morton C. Hartzell, and by a son by her first marriage, Mr. William J. Clark of Chicago.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at her late residence on Baldwin street and were conducted by Rev. Harry Lutz, pastor of the Channing Unitarian Church, and Mrs. Lafayette Goodbar of Boston sang "Home of the Soul," "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and "Passing Out of the Shadow." The burial was at Billerica, her former home.

MRS. VERNON CASTLE TO BE SEEN
 HERE IN "PATRIA," BIG SERIAL

Mrs. Vernon Castle, famous throughout the world, every week for fifteen weeks at the Newton Opera House, commencing next Wednesday and Thursday. That is the promise of Manager Fisher, who is now making arrangements with Pathé for a booking on "Patria," the big serial produced for International, in which the society favorite is starred.

"Patria" is the first society serial of romance and preparedness. Many scenes were taken in Newport, America's greatest millionaire resort, and at private showings in the Grand Ballroom of the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, New York, and in such places in other large cities, "Patria" has been enthusiastically greeted by the big figures of society whose lead everyone else is anxious to follow.

Mrs. Vernon Castle, the best known woman in America, is one of the most charming stars ever seen on the screen.

"Patria" is by Louis Joseph Vance, the famous author of a score of best-sellers including "The Brass Bowl," "The Bronze Bell," etc. The story tells of Patria Channing, a beautiful young society girl, left sole heir to America's largest munition works, and her splendid struggle against Baron Huroki, a wily foreigner who is endeavoring to gain control of Channing and the $100,000,000 Trust Fund left to Patria by her father. She is led by Capt. Donald Parr of the U. S. Secret Service, with whom he is in love.

ALLIES RELIEF

The Newton South Allies Relief Association will continue to hold its meetings in the parish house of Trinity Church, Newton Centre, every Friday morning. The Association has broadened its work by the addition of several new departments, notably one for making pajamas, which is under the direction of Mrs. A. E. Alvord.

One who knows Victor Herbert's past achievements—and who does not—and who believed that he had reached his highest ambition in previous compositions, will be surprised to know that by far and long "Eileen" is his greatest work and seemingly destined to occupy that position for time to come. He has never done more beautiful work, never nearer to fulfilling expectations.

Was Jesus Christ Man, Superman, or God?

The Reverend Walter Brown Murray of Bridgewater, Mass., will offer a solution of this problem at the Church of the New Jerusalem, Highland Avenue, Newtonville, next Sunday evening, January twenty-eighth, at half-past seven o'clock. Mr. Murray is the author of a widely-read book entitled, "Who is Jesus?", and we believe you will be interested in what he has to say. We offer you a very cordial invitation to be present.

FORD PROFIT SHARING PLAN

and then he will pay them, if they just wait he will come across in a way that will satisfy them. Now if a man at the end of six months' time gets along in matters of thrift and morals he goes automatically on and he will be raised from $4 up to $2 1-2 cents, part of which as I explained, is profit and part wage. We cannot touch his wage but we do hold the right to handle his profit. That is a matter of mutual agreement between us. We are cooperating with this man. If you and I started in business together you would have the right if I was not living just right to look into my life at that time.

I think instead of having so many charities we should have a clearing house for employees. When a man graduates from theological school they ought to have an office in a factory where he could meet the men and have a door of opportunity of the shop open, through which he could send men to work. That will be a new job for persons.

Getting back to the profit sharing plan. If a man takes good care of his profits, everything is lovely. We explain to him in a good way, to get an account in the bank that will take care of an emergency. Something that comes unlocked for, or to build a home. If a man goes a little wrong and neglects his family we withhold his profits for a little while and we tell him he will have to live on his skilled rate and show us he can live on it and save a little. If he improves within 30 days we give him all his profits back which we have withheld. If it takes him 60 days we give him 75 per cent and give the other 25 per cent to charity. If it takes him three months he gets 60 per cent and 40 per cent goes to charity and if it takes him five months he gets 40 per cent and 60 per cent goes to charity and if it takes him six months he is discharged and another man is given his chance.

Question—Do you employ men of all nationalities and colors? Answer—We have 62 different nationalities and I think that includes the colors.

Question—Do you notice any marked difference in them in thoroughness and efficiency? Answer—Yes, the Russians are more thorough and efficient and the Armenians, Turkish and Greeks. These are the highest. You Americans are way down.

Question—Didn't Mr. Ford know this plan would pay and doesn't it?

Answer—Yes, it has paid. This new way increases efficiency. The wage on the old system was 39 cents an hour and on the new 50 cents. A certain group of men made 800 gas tanks on the old system and on the new produced 1200 tanks per day. So we have increased efficiency. A short time ago Mr. Ford increased the wages of the women. Up until that time a woman who had children to support or who had a mother dependent on her was getting $5 a day and a single woman was not getting that.

Question—Could a company not making so much as the Ford Company carry on such a thing? Answer—Not in the same way but they could carry on the principle in some way or other.

Question—Have men left the Ford Company for other positions? Answer—Not until the ammunition plants started up. Men think they can make more money with them. The only thing we have to say is we will be here when the war closes and the ammunition plants may not.

Question—Have you any women who go around investigating and teaching the women of the employees families? Answer—No we haven't any women, they are all men. The women workers of our plant expressed a wish to have men. I don't know why, I will leave that for you women to figure out.

Question—What effect does your plant have on other manufacturing plants in Detroit? Answer—I don't think it makes any difference. We try to prevent that, we won't consider the application of any man that is employed in any other company. We won't hire a man who hasn't been a resident of the city for six months. We have to do this to our own disadvantage to protect the other manufacturers.

Question—What is the attitude towards inventions made by employees of the company? Answer—if a man works it out in the course of a day's work it does make use of it but not in any cash value but in the way of advancing the man.

Question—What have you in the way of recreation and amusement for your employees? Answer—We have no playgrounds, libraries, gymnasiums, swimming pools or shower baths for the employees. Mr. Ford would rather give the money to the men that they can spend it themselves and have a few conveniences in their homes.

THE CLAFLIN SCHOOL

Editor Newton Graphic,

Dear Sir:—
I beg to call attention to the fact that the parents of children attending the Claflin School in Newtonville are very much worked up over the recent action of the present Board of Aldermen in holding up the appropriation for an Automatic Regulator to control the new heating apparatus in that school, and also over the apparent neglect of Mr. Forbush, Building Commissioner, to use the money appropriated by last year's Board of Aldermen for this purpose.

A new heating plant was recently installed in this school at a cost of $11,300, but through some oversight or for some other reason no regulator was provided and the heat cannot be properly controlled under present conditions, causing sickness and distress, and children have had to be taken out of school in many cases.

Now this deplorable condition can be corrected by installing an Automatic Regulator at a cost of $1348, which last year's Board granted, but which was not used by our Building Commissioner with the result that conditions remain the same, and unless the present Board of Aldermen show some inclination to renew this appropriation the children must continue to suffer and sickness occur.

This is indeed a serious situation which calls for drastic action, and on behalf of the parents I make this public appeal to the Board of Aldermen to make this appropriation of $1348 and eliminate this menace to the health and welfare of the children in the Claflin School.

Mr. Wheeler, Supt. of Schools, and Mr. Lyon, Chairman of School Committee, both favor the installation of a regulator, but nothing can be done without an appropriation by the Board of Aldermen.

Very truly yours,
J. AUGUSTUS REMINGTON.

FATHER GILFETHER DEAD

Rev. Fr. James F. Gilfether, for twenty-one years the curate at the Church of Our Lady in Newton, died last Saturday at his present home in Lynn.

He was born in South Boston, Feb. 22, 1860, son of Daniel and Helen Gilfether. His father was a grocer for many years. The son was graduated from the Lawrence Grammar School of South Boston and from Boston College in 1880. He went to St. Mary's Seminary in Baltimore, where he was ordained in 1883 by Cardinal Gibbons.

Fr. Gilfether was assigned to the Church of Our Lady at Newton, where he remained as curate for 21 years. In September, 1905, he was appointed pastor in West Lynn. He completed the church there started by his predecessor, Rev. Fr. Sullivan, and had prepared plans for a new convent.

Fr. Gilfether leaves seven sisters: Mrs. William J. Gallivan, Miss Agnes Gilfether, principal of the Shurtleff School in South Boston; and Misses Mary, Alice, Rose, Isabel and Catherine Gilfether, all of South Boston.

Funeral services were held at the Church of the Sacred Heart in West Lynn on Tuesday at which Cardinal O'Connell presided.

ELIOT CHURCH

The Annual Meeting of Eliot Church was held last Friday evening in connection with the mid-winter turkey supper. Nearly 300 were present and listened to reports of an unusually successful year. The benevolences of the year total about $25,000.

A special feature that gave interest to the occasion was the wearing of a tag by each member of the church present bearing the name of the minister under whom he joined the church. The Pastor read a short review of the membership of the church which showed that there is no one living who joined in the first two pastorates. The longest-time members are five who joined at the first Communion of Dr. Wellman's ministry July 5, 1855. Three of the five were present, the other two living, one an invalid and the other non-resident.

There were eight present from Dr. Wellman's pastorate, five from Mr. Freeland's and largely increased numbers from Dr. Calkins', Dr. Davis' and the present pastorate.

INCOME TAX EXPLAINED

Mr. G. B. H. Green, Jr., deputy income tax assessor for this district, will be at the Assessors' office, City Hall, West Newton, from two to eight o'clock on Friday, Feb. 2, Feb. 9, and Feb. 16, for the purpose of instructing Newton residents how to fill out the returns of their income for 1916. In view of the many questions which are arising in regard to this matter, this arrangement ought to be most convenient for Newton people. Mr. Green, however, is not authorized to receive the returns, these should be filed either at the State House, Boston, or at the Middlesex office of the income tax assessor, 580 Massachusetts Avenue, Central square, Cambridge. An early filing is advised for hundreds of thousands of returns are expected to be filed and a long wait will ensue for those who delay making their returns to the last moment.

In this connection, residents of this city who intend to make a return of their tangible personal property to the Newton Assessors in order to save otherwise inevitable double taxation, are advised that the city return is not to be made until April 1st and must be filed before May 15th. The income tax returns must be filed before March 1st.

BRAE BURN CLUB

The second in the series of Carnivals was held Friday evening at Brae Burn, and more than 250 were present to enjoy the fine skating, and the music by the Cambridge City Band lent an additional attraction.

The management provides every necessary facility for the enjoyment of winter delights, and those who tire of the out-door sports will find plenty of entertainment in the Club House where an orchestra plays for dancing in the Garden Tea Room from 9:30 until 12, and supper is served from 10 to 11, in the dining-hall.

The next Carnival is scheduled for Friday evening, February 9th.

During the skating season concerts are held in the Club House every Sunday afternoon, and afternoon tea will be served.

Welfare work as was described by Dr. S. S. Marquis at the meetings of both Forums of Newton last Sunday seems prophetic of what may be a solution of the capital and labor questions of the future. As one listened one could not think how much of its value really depends upon its administration and that with it, as with the juvenile court, the ultimate success depends in large measure upon the personality of those at the helm. While to Henry Ford was given all the credit, one could not but think that to the speaker himself belonged a large amount as well. Helping people to help themselves is certainly the best sort of service, and the ultimate realization of the brotherhood of man. Such methods seem to be far ahead of those which have previously engaged the attention as, for example, those at Port Sunlight in England, where the company retains the control. Keeping one's own house in good condition because it is one's own is surely a step in advance of keeping it so because the company requires one to do so.

"District Conferences" is a term appearing upon Federation announcements for the first time this year. A word of explanation may not be amiss. The State has been divided into eight districts with a Federation director in charge of each, the thought being to bring about a closer connection between the clubs and the Federation. As a result of this districting have come about these District Conferences whereby Federation officers or departments may reach representatives of many clubs with no greater expenditure of energy than in meeting with one club. Such combinations cannot fail to bring about good results. The clubs of Newton are in the Sixth District and Mrs. Irving O. Palmer is the district director.

State Federation

Tuesday, Jan. 30, 2:30 P. M. Civics conference in the East Saugus Methodist church, by invitation of the Riverside Club. Every club in the Sixth District is urged to send at least two delegates. To reach Saugus take train from North Station at 12:50 to Lynn and from there take electric car marked "Saugus-Melrose" or "Cliffordale-Malden." Or take Elevated to Malden Square, transferring to a Cliftondale car; running time from Malden 45 minutes.

Tuesday, January 30, 2:30 P. M. Eliot Hall, Jamaica Plain. Sectional Art Conference. Mrs. Ada W. Tillingshaw will speak on "Artistic Furnishings" and Mr. J. J. Chickering on "Ornamental Rugs."

Wednesday, Jan. 31. "Minute Men" will have an opportunity to be shown over the Sherborn Reformatory for Women. Take train from South Station at 1:25 for South Framingham.

Wednesday, Feb. 7. Mid-winter meeting of State Federation at Wakefield. Five hundred luncheon tickets at 50 cents each will be sold. Application for them may be made up to Feb. 1st by sending money and stamped, addressed envelope for return of ticket to Mrs. Warren B. Wiley, Crescent Hill, Wakefield. Provision will be made for those bringing box luncheon where coffee, tea and ice cream may be purchased. Details about trains will be given next week.

Conference for Sixth District

The clubs in the Sixth District, in which the Newton clubs are included, are invited to a conference through the courtesy of The Fortnightly of Winchester to be held in the Unitarian Church of that place on Friday, February 2nd. The morning session at 10:45 is open only to the presidents and Federation secretaries or their substitutes when there will be a Round Table and Question Box. These delegates will be the guests of the hostess club at luncheon. The afternoon session at 2 o'clock will be open to all club women. The program will include an organ recital and addresses by Mrs. H. J. Gurney, State President, and Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, District Director.

The Monday Club of Newton Highlands will observe "Gentlemen's Night" on the evening of Jan. 29 at the home of Mrs. Florence Foster of Walnut street, when Prof. Dallas Lore Sharp will give readings.

Jan. 29th will be "Guest Night" for the Waban Woman's Club. There will be a dramatic entertainment in the Union Church vestry.

On Monday afternoon the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. will meet with Miss Anna Thompson of Hartford street.

Children's Day will be observed by the Auburndale Woman's Club on January 30th. Children over eight years of age, belonging to club members, are to be the honored guests of the afternoon. The program, however, should interest all those fortunate grown-ups who remember that "to remain young is the art of life." Miss Mabel C. Bragg, assistant superintendent of the Newton Public Schools, will give a program of her charming stories. Mrs. Lyman W. Gore, chairman of the music committee, will sing songs appropriate to the day, with Mrs. Lowell D. MacNutt at the piano. Refreshments will be served. This meeting will be held in the Methodist Church, and the Club hopes for a large attendance of its youthful friends.

Rev. J. Edgar Park of West Newton will speak before the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning on "The Poets of Ireland."

On Jan. 31st the Pierian Club will meet with Mrs. Colby of Waldorf road.

The Brightelmstone Club will hold an evening dancing party at the club house on Thursday, Feb. 1st.

"Fifi of the Toy Shop," which will be given under the auspices of the Newton Centre Woman's Club for the benefit of the Club House Fund, promises to be a great success. The play, it is said, is equally enjoyed by both young and grown-ups. There will be two performances, on Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 30, and on Wednesday evening, Jan. 31. The following comprise the cast: Miss Mary West, Miss Eleanor Shumway, Miss Anita Butts, Miss Dorothy Taylor, Miss Hazel Sands, Miss Louise Gerhard, Miss Sweeny, Miss Helen Brown, Messrs. T. Smith, Calvin Smith, Joseph Holden, Kellelet, C. Bigelow and Lansing Putnam. Solo dancer, Miss Elsie Harrington, Miss Mary Louise Thomas, aged eight, and Miss Frances Varney, aged eleven, will render fancy dances.

Local Happenings

On Saturday afternoon, Jan. 20, the Shakespeare Club of Newton Highlands was entertained by Mrs. F. S. Keith. Mrs. Mick had charge of the quiz, which was a review of Henry IV, Part I. She brought out the fact that although this is one of the early plays, Shakespeare showed wonderful development in characterization. That Prince Hal and Falstaff seem living men today is what gives the real interest to the play.

Dr. Julia Bissell gave a very interesting talk on Navigation at the meeting of the Christian Era Study Club on Monday, Jan. 22. Beginning with its infancy in Egypt in 900 B. C. and tracing down to the present time she showed how the growth of the ship has been an index to the expansion of man's ambitions and needs.

At the meeting of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. on Monday afternoon Miss Adelaide R. Webster was in charge of the work, continuing the subject of International Relations. She traced the rise of the Peace Party from early beginnings and brought its history down to the present time. The Hague Tribunal was treated at length and the educational work in the schools at the present time was mentioned.

Tuesday, January 30, 2:30 P. M. Eliot Hall, Jamaica Plain. Sectional Art Conference. Mrs. Ada W. Tillingshaw will speak on "Artistic Furnishings" and Mr. J. J. Chickering on "Ornamental Rugs."

Wednesday, Jan. 31. "Minute Men" will have an opportunity to be shown over the Sherborn Reformatory for Women. Take train from South Station at 1:25 for South Framingham.

Guest Day of the Pierian Club was observed on Wednesday of last week at the home of Mrs. H. E. Locke, Boylston street, Upper Falls. The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. Albert Walton of Brookline, chairman of the Industrial commission of Progressive women and a member of the Boston Women's Trade Union League. Her subject was "Woman in Industry under the Law," and she spoke of many of the humanitarian bills introduced into the legislature this last year which had not been passed. She graphically described the situation in the textile centers, showing the need of a shorter working day and the necessity of an appropriation from the state for playgrounds in the large industrial centers. She touched on juvenile court work and advocated the establishment of schools for the immigrant mother.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and a delightfully social time enjoyed by all present.

At the meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club on Tuesday, Jan. 23, at the Congregational Chapel, Mrs. John Clarence Lee of Philadelphia gave a lecture on "Siberian Women." She told of a Russian woman, a patrician, reared in luxury, who had worked for reform against the government and who had been thirty-five years an exile in Siberia. Mrs. Lee read two letters written by this woman, which were truly remarkable. The speaker also told of a five days' visit she had with a family in Siberia where all the servants smoked cigarettes at their work, also that sometimes nine different kinds of wines and cordials were served at dinner, yet never but once had she seen a Russian intoxicated. The lecture was concluded with the reading of extracts from "The Witch" by Kuprin, a modern Russian novelist. Mrs. Ruth Walker of Lasell Seminary sang two songs, accompanied by Miss Pomeroy, also of Lasell.

About three hundred members have already been enrolled on the books of the Newton Highlands Woman's Club, so that the officers are forced to seek more spacious accommodations. At the second meeting of the club held on Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Estelle H. Hurll gave an illustrated lecture on "Madonnas" showing numerous slides many of which were made especially for her, thus giving her audience the opportunity of seeing many which are seldom to be seen outside of the foreign galleries. The club is anticipating the lecture by Dr. Charles R. Brown, Dean of Yale Divinity School, on "Lindonians."

Children's Day will be observed by the Auburndale Woman's Club on January 30th. Children over eight years of age, belonging to club members, are to be the honored guests of the afternoon. The program, however, should interest all those fortunate grown-ups who remember that "to remain young is the art of life." Miss Mabel C. Bragg, assistant superintendent of the Newton Public Schools, will give a program of her charming stories. Mrs. Lyman W. Gore, chairman of the music committee, will sing songs appropriate to the day, with Mrs. Lowell D. MacNutt at the piano. Refreshments will be served. This meeting will be held in the Methodist Church, and the Club hopes for a large attendance of its youthful friends.

Rev. J. Edgar Park of West Newton will speak before the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning on "The Poets of Ireland."

On Jan. 31st the Pierian Club will meet with Mrs. Colby of Waldorf road.

The Brightelmstone Club will hold an evening dancing party at the club house on Thursday, Feb. 1st.

In the G. A. R. Hall, Newtonville, the Newton Ladies' Home Circle will hold its regular meeting next Thursday afternoon, Feb. 1st.

WAR AFFECTS ENGLAND

I have in mind one special place which was partly marsh and this was built up with ammunition plants where thousands of men and women are engaged in the making of one single article of war ammunition, a six inch shell case. From that plant to the North of London there are plants about two miles apart and in each establishment they are employing thousands and thousands of men and women making materials of destruction. These people are working under the compulsory power of the Government. Before the war were free individuals and now they are working under martial law. We have had compulsory power of State from one department to another, and I have noticed in the papers during the last two or three days that we are on the verge of compulsion for the whole field of human labor. In this respect and in many others we have been copying the State system of our adversaries. We have employed principles of our antagonists and so in the past two years we have seen this transformation of England from a State of individual freedom and Government control until we have today imposed upon us a State System. It is fair to say in reference to this growth of State authority that there is no one in England that in a time like this is not prepared to give us a great deal, or all that is necessary for the security of the company. The question is, will we have this system after the war, and it looks now as if the ideas adopted from our adversaries will continue after the war. I feel that the War will advance socialism in England. While people have lost their personal freedom in some ways the Government control is freedom on another basis.

Question—Do the ammunition factories run both night and day? Answer—There are two shifts of ten and ten and one half hours, divided into two parts, five hours in the morning and five in the afternoon with a break in the middle of the day. One shift goes off at six o'clock and the night shift goes on at seven. The night shift have a break at twelve and another at three in the morning. The great difficulty is to provide meals for that mass of workers, thousands and thousands of men and women. It is done partly by the firms themselves and partly by the Y. M. C. A. and partly by contractors. It is also being done by the Government which have taken up the welfare work. Women and girls working in these plants, in about a month's time might be earning only two pounds and three pounds a week, ten and fifteen dollars a week which seems a small wage to you but which seems a great deal to us and is considered a large wage at the present time. More experienced women may earn as much as four pounds or twenty dollars and a few as much as thirty dollars.

Question—Will men return to their old occupations after the war? Will they immigrate or go back to their land to take up some new occupation? Answer—It is true that after the war a large number who went from every kind of occupation, after these men have tasted the outdoor life will not go back. It is the fact of their having got into a new feeling of responsibility. Of course a very large number will immigrate and there will be inducements held out by Australia and Canada that it will be difficult for the young Englishmen to resist. And what about these women that have tasted the economic advantages. Of course you cannot get rid of them.

Question—What does the speaker regard as the purpose for a larger degree of Democracy in Germany after the War? Answer—I do not think that it is quite a fair question to ask, it might be better for a man of a neutral nation to answer a question of that sort.

Question—Doesn't the speaker think that the key to the development of real democracy is in the fact that England and the United States have only political democracy and haven't grasped the idea of economic democracy?

Answer—I think the questioner has answered the question. As far as I feel we cannot have any real democracy until we have realized an individual and social democracy as well as individual liberty.

Question—Does the speaker feel that

England's attitude toward Ireland is just? Answer—I belong to that part of the English nation that hold to the view that England has never been just to Ireland.

Question—What does the speaker think the outcome of the war will be in its effect upon the Government control and the railroads? Answer—I do not think anybody can doubt that we shall have a great change in the control of railroads. I feel certain that the land system of England will undergo a radical reform.

At the next meeting of the Forum on Sunday afternoon at Bray Hall,

Newton Centre, Miss Charlotte Perkins Gilman will speak on the subject

"What Feminism Is and Isn't."

CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

On Tuesday afternoon, January 23, Mr. Marshall Darrach gave the second of his three Shakespearean recitals. "Julius Caesar" was the play presented. There was a considerably larger attendance than there had been at the first recital and the excellent presentation was greatly enjoyed by all who were present. The third and last of Mr. Darrach's recitals will be given in the Assembly Hall at two o'clock next Tuesday afternoon. The play will be "Hamlet."

In an Australian Ballot of the Senior Class last Thursday morning, Paul Nash was elected editor-in-chief of the "Newtonian" for the class of 1917. The work upon this annual publication will be started immediately.

The first trials of the Boys' Debating Club were held last week. The following members were selected as candidates for the Triangular Debating Teams: Clapp, Cole, Emery, Forbush, Ford, Hopkins, Macomber, Spern, Whedon.

The annual Interclass Track Meet will be held in the gymnasium at 7:30 this (Friday) evening. The meet this year promises to be much more interesting than most of the previous interclass affairs. Instead of the annual walk-over for the Seniors, a very close and hard-fought contest is expected to take place between the Juniors and Seniors. From present indications it would seem that the Juniors should win the meet by a very close margin. Among the stars belonging to this class are Hayes in the dash and the 300 yard run, Nutting in the same events and in the relay, Garrity in the 600 yard run, Gray and Farrell in the high jump, and Hickox in the hurdles. The Seniors are expecting much from Duvall in the 1000 yard run and in the relay, Billings in the high jump and shot put, and Mooney in the 600. For the Sophomores, Bowen in the 1000 and Brickhouse in the sprints should gather quite a few points. As an added attraction, the school relay team, composed of Mooney, Garrity, Hayes, and Brickhouse, will run an exhibition race against a special Alumni relay team at the close of the meet.

The Newton High School relay team will run the Brookline High team at the Coast Artillery Meet tomorrow evening.

The school hockey team has continued its winning streak during the past week, taking its second Interscholastic League game from Somerville High, and also winning hard-fought victories over St. Marks School and Huntington School. The Newton team will play its third game in the Interscholastic League at the Boston Arena tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock. The strong Rindge team will be the opponents, and a lively contest is expected. Brookline High now holds the lead in the league, but a victory over Rindge tomorrow would place Newton in a tie for the top honors.

TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

On Friday and Saturday evenings of last week, the Alumni of the Newton Technical High School presented a play entitled "The Magistrate" in the school hall. The cast, which included many of the former actors and actresses of the school, was composed of the following: Hugh Boyd, Ruth Spencer, Harold Collins, Frances Ireland, William Dalton, Ralph Davis, Marion O'Connell, Charles Mahoney, George White, Edwin McGill, Edward Gray, Eliot Stickney, and Margaret Boughan. The members of the Senior Class of this school held a party in the library on Friday afternoon, January 19. There was a general good time, consisting of games and dancing.

At the regular Wednesday morning assembly this week, Mr. Geo. P. Bullard of West Newton addressed the students. Mr. Bullard was formerly president of the West Newton Men's Club, and spoke in connection with a gift of a new set of library books which was last year presented to the school by that organization, in memory of Captain Howard.

BOY SCOUTS

At the Boy Scout meeting of Troop 1, Newtonville, there were 65 members present.

The evening was devoted to drill and preparing the scouts for the Court of Honor, to be held the 25th of January.

The Scouts are "doing a good turn" by talking to some boys in Nonantum on scouting.

Several boys went to Riverside last Saturday to finish their tests, preparatory to the examination.
